Dinner-Dance Set For Ted Lewis Birthday Party

Plans are firming up for the Circleville celebration of Ted Lewis' 80th birthday on June 6.

Highlighting the celebration will be a dinner in the 4-H Grange Building followed by a dance in the coliseum. Dinner reservations will be limited to 300 and tickets will be sold on a first-come first-served basis.

Irish Cabinet Members Fired In Arms Probe

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The implication of two cabinet ministers in a plot to smuggle arms to the outlawed Irish Republican Army raised new fears today of another summer of violence in neighboring British-ruled Northern Ireland.

Prime Minister Jack Lynch told the Irish Parliament Wednesday night that he had fired Agriculture Minister Neil Blaney and Finance Minister Charles Haughey after receiving "information which purported to connect them with an alleged attempt to unlawfully import arms."

Opposition leader Liam Cosgrave said the arms were intended for an illegal organization, and it was generally assumed that he meant the IRA and Roman Catholic extremists in Protestant-ruled Ulster.

The firing of the two ministers —and the resignation of two others sympathizing with them—touched off a sharp crisis in Lynch's ruling Fianna Fail party, pitting the moderate prime minister and his supporters against hard-liners who want to unify the two Irelands by any means necessary.

Lynch's control of the government did not appear threatened.
But Laborite Conor Cruise O'Brien told Parliament he had found a "vast sense of Protestant fanaticism" in Northern Ireland confronting "the growing strength of the Irish Republican Army." He warned that extremists were building up to "a festival of destruction or slaughter next July or August."

Lynch said the plot in which the two ministers allegedly were involved called for the arms to be shipped from the European continent under the guise of a regular military shipment.

Cosgrave said the arms were worth $192,000.
Lynch said Haughey and Blaney repeatedly denied involvement in the reported plot. But Lynch's disclosure gave credence to reports from London of arms activity on behalf of the IRA.

Police sources in the British capital said IRA agents have been actively trying to buy machine guns, rifles, pistols, grenades and ammunition in Europe and the United Kingdom.

Clumsy Stork Keeps Falling Off Her Egg

MATLOCK, England (AP) — A stork at a nature reserve near here is supposed to become a mother next Tuesday, but she doesn't seem to be able to cope with the prospect and keeps falling off her egg.

"A stork laying an egg in captivity is a rare event," said Eddie Hallam, curator of the Riber Nature Reserve, "and this one isn't very infant-minded."

"She is very clumsy, and we are having all sorts of problems with her."

Hallam and his staff have to watch the bird constantly to make sure she does not damage the egg with her foot.
"She seemed astonished when she laid the egg," said Hallam.

Admission for the dance portion is independent of the dinner.

Tickets for both the dinner and dance will go on sale Saturday at all banks in Circleville. Mail orders will be filled by the Chamber of Commerce. Dinner tickets will sell for $4 each and tickets for the dance will be $5 per couple.
Those ordering tickets by mail should enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope as well as a check or money order payable to the Ted Lewis Birthday Committee.

Both Ted and his wife, Ada, will be guests of honor at both the dinner and dance as well as a long list of dignitaries.

BOB BRAUN, popular TV star and entertainer, will be master of ceremonies for the event. The Cliff Lash Orchestra has been contracted for the dance scheduled 9 p.m. to midnight.

Co-chairmen of the birthday celebration are Ben H. Gordon and Judge William Ammer.
Other members of the committee are Ned Harden, Dick Davis, Ned Dresbach, Nelson
Embery, Mrs. Robert McKelvey, Mrs. Roger Bennington and Dr. David Goldschmidt.

Co-sponsor of the event is Circleville Lodge No. 77 of the Elks. Ted is a life member of the local lodge as well as a member of the Ohio Elks' Hall of Fame.

Hedges Chapel Church will serve a baked chicken dinner to the 200 guests in the 4-H Grange Building. The dinner portion of the program will begin 6:30 p.m. The steering committee today emphasized there would be no alcoholic beverages served or permitted at the dinner or dance.

Presentations to the occasion will be made at the dinner and dance. A special program, in addition to entertainment provided by the orchestra and Bob Braun, is also scheduled for that portion of the event in the coliseum.

The committee emphasized the urgency of securing tickets for the dinner at an early date.
Interest in the birthday celebration is gaining momentum daily and it is felt dinner tickets will be completely sold out within a few days.

Get Permit For Rally

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for a student group calling itself the Ohio College and University Coalition said Wednesday that it had obtained a permit to parade in downtown Columbus Friday and hold a rally at the State Capitol.

The spokesman said that the permit allows them to march from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. from Veterans Memorial Auditorium to the Capitol, where they have obtained a rally permit.

He said the students will protest expansion of the war in Southeast Asia and the use of force and violence on college campuses.

He said 10,000 students from at least 14 colleges are expected to take part in the march and rally. He said a large number of student marshals will be used to keep the demonstration peaceful.

The spokesman said the students would wear black armbands on their left arm and march in delegations with signs indicating the colleges they represent.

U.S. Air Attacks Give Hanoi Message To Start Talking

jor aim of the big U.S. air raids on North Vietnam was to help drive home the Nixon administration message to Hanoi that the time has come for real peace talks.

ly by some officials, although areas along the North Vietnamese-Lao border was to protect unarmed reconnaissance planes from antiaircraft fire.

White House sources last week indicated the U.S.-South Vietnamese troop drive against the Cambodian sanctuaries also had the purpose of sending a tough message to Hanoi that the United States was finished making one-sided concessions after nearly two years of fruitless meetings in Paris.

Therefore, the air raids against North Vietnam last weekend emerge in perspective as part of a diplomatic-military play.

The message-sending aspect of the "protective reaction" strikes against antiaircraft gun and missile positions was made clear Wednesday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

He said "the raids were carried out to make sure that the North Vietnamese understood that we intended to use air power should the reconnaissance planes be fired upon... flying over North Vietnam."

Although the "reinforced protective reaction" strikes by as many as 100 planes in a single operation did have an intent to safeguard the lives of U.S. reconnaissance pilots, Pentagon sources made it plain they also had the broader purpose of jolting the North Vietnamese toward meaningful negotiations.

Pilots engaged in the strikes reportedly were given some latitude, probably more than had been the case in the past, on what they could hit.

For example, if an ammunition supply point was reasonably close to an antiaircraft battery or missile site, the pilot could consider it as part of the target complex.

Allow Teachers To Keep Paddle

BOSTON (AP) — Teachers in Massachusetts public schools will still be allowed to administer corporal punishment to students as a result of action taken by the Massachusetts House.

On a 108 to 23 vote, the House defeated Wednesday a bill which would have prohibited corporal punishment.

Rep. Edward P. Coury, D-
New Bedford, opposed the bill with the comment that now-with a troubled society-authority to administer corporal punishment should not be taken away from teachers.

Legality Of U.S. Attacks Inside Cambodia Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's legal defense of American military action in Cambodia seeks support in the U.S. Constitution and the U.N. Charter and rejects the suggestion Cambodian neutrality has been violated.

But this position is challenged by a former State Department legal adviser who is a recognized international law expert.
Harvard Prof. Abram Chayes accuses President Nixon of flouting international law and says his administration has no respect for national boundaries.

Nixon did not set forth any legal basis in announcing the action to the American public.

April 30 except to say "I shall meet my responsibility as commander in chief of our armed forces to take the action I consider necessary to defend the security of our American men."

He relied on Article II Section 2 of the Constitution which provides "the president shall be commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States."

Internationally, the government is mindful of the general prohibition to the use of force in the U.N. Charter. But it notes that Article 51 reserves "the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations."

Ambassador Charles W. Yost called this exception to the attention of Secretary General U Thant in a letter May 5. Yost described the military move as an appropriate measure of collective self-defense by U.S. and South Vietnamese armed forces.

To this, a government source added: "When the action is coming from a neutral country which is unable to protect its territory from being used, our position is you are entitled to take self-defensive action on the neutral's territory."

The source, a knowledgeable official who asked that his name not be used, said he was emphasizing that the neutral country, Cambodia, was unable to take defensive action against North Vietnamese forces.

Chayes, legal adviser in the State Department from 1961 to 1964, quarrels strenuously with these views. He says the administration "isn't giving real consideration to the international legal issues involved."

In a telephone interview from Harvard, Chayes said it is debatable whether Nixon's constitutional power as commander in chief includes authority to send troops into neutral Cambodia.

Ohio Colleges Face More War, KSU Slaying Protests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While three state universities were shut down Wednesday because of campus causes, many other schools were the scenes of student demonstrations.

Most of the demonstrations were held in memory of four Kent State University students slain in campus disorders and to protest U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

Ohio State University was shut down indefinitely after a week of disruptions. But in Ohio State's case, students had local grievances.

OU Building Is Damaged By Fire Bomb

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University's campus was hit by firebombing early today, causing damage estimated at $4,000 to an ROTC building and Peden Football Stadium.

Announcement of the fire came from President Claude L.
Sowle who hours earlier had pledged to keep the school open and to "show restraint, and to express without violence and destruction our deep distress and concern over recent events."

Two fire bombs were thrown through the window of the ROTC supply room at the studium about 4 a.m. and the resulting fire destroyed a number of ROTC uniforms and damaged the stadium.

"Law enforcement agencies including the FBI are at the moment investigating this occurrence," Sowle added.

"I deplore this act of violence.
At the same time I remain firm in my resolve that Ohio University must remain open. I repeat my statements of last night calling upon all members of the university community to work with me to keep Ohio University open."

No other disturbance was reported on the campus.

Akron and Miami universities canceled classes for the rest of this week to enable students to participate in vigils, teach-ins and other observances.

At Bowling Green State University, where some 6,000 students participated in a candlelight procession into town Wednesday night, leaders were calling for a strike through the end of the week.

About half of BG's student body marched to the Wood County Courthouse in Bowling Green, where they were confronted by about 150 police officers, and returned peacefully to the campus.

Some 4,000 Ohio University students, led by six local clergymen who are on a three-day fast, took part in a peaceful "march against murder" into Athens Wednesday.

Later about 60 students sat in the center of a downtown intersection, but police merely directed traffic around them until they left.

A rally attended by 3,000 students on the college's main green Wednesday night featured speakers who debated how to continue the protest.

About 200 students held a sit-in at the University of Cincinnati administration building Wednesday night. University officials decided to allow them to remain rather than risk violence by throwing them out.

Classes were canceled Wednesday at Cuyahoga Community College, Cleveland State University and Case-Western Reserve, in Cleveland, to mourn the Kent State dead.

At Case, 1,000 persons, not all of them students, attended a rally at which speakers called for a demonstration in Cleveland Saturday in opposition to the war.

A student committee at Youngstown State University called for a one-day strike Friday to demonstrate young people's concern over "what happened at Kent State and what's happening in the world."

A student group called the
"Ohio College and University Coalition," which claims to have supporters on 30 campuses, announced plans for a rally at the State Capitol in Columbus Friday. A spokesman said 10,000 students from 14 colleges are expected to take part.

About 75 Wilmington College students conducting a 50-mile march to Columbus carrying a statement of concern over the Kent State killings had completed about half of their journey when they stopped for the night near Springfield.

2 Ohio Soldiers Killed

Anger Flares; Amendment Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to prohibit U.S. combat troops in Cambodia have been defeated in a dramatic House session punctuated by angry outbursts on the floor and cheers and hisses from the galleries.

Even an amendment President Nixon said endorsed his decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia—and opponents said would give him open-end authority to wage war—went down to resounding defeat.

In parliamentary sleight of hand designed to prevent a flat ban against U.S. troops in Cambodia from coming to a vote, the House approved the amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., 171 to 144—then immediately killed it 221 to 32.

"I'm not for one of these amendments, not one," House Armed Services Chairman L.
Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said in urging no House action on Cambodia. "I'd take the Findley amendment as a last resort."

"The President of the United States is doing exactly right with or without this Findley amendment," Rivers said.
"President Nixon is saving American boys and you are committed to the same objective—it's as simple as that."

Then drawing loud hisses from the antiwar-dominated spectators in the packed galleries, Rivers added: "I want to talk about something we haven't heard much about here—patriotism."

The angry outbursts from the floor came when the House voted to limit all debate on the Cambodia amendments to a period that gave each speaker 45 seconds to state his case.

Rep. Donald W. Reagle Jr., R-Mich., grabbed a microphone, wheeled around to face the galleries and demanded: "Have you ever seen a sadder sight in your life?"

Spectators cheered and they and Reagle were gavelled to order by the chair.

See Wallace '72 Threat Diminished

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's Republican national committeeman says George C.
Wallace's second-place showing in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination makes him "a dull sword" as a presidential threat in 1972.

And the chairman of the state Democratic Executive Committee "will destroy himself nationally" if he injects a racial issue into the June 2 runoff for the nomination against Gov. Albert Brewer.

Brewer carried most of the predominantly black counties and the big-city districts where Negroes have a majority.

Wallace had charged before the primary that black "militants" were conspiring to beat him.

The former governor, who accused President Nixon's administration and both GOP and Democratic leaders of working against him, said he would make a pitch also against "Washington interference."

James D. Martin, the Republican national committeeman from Gadsden, said it would be "difficult for Wallace to launch another third-party movement having been defeated in his own state and not having won the governor's office to use as a base."

The state Democratic chairman, Robert S. Vance of Birmingham, said the former governor "will destroy himself nationally if he yells 'nigger, nigger' in the showdown against Brewer."

"He has tried to convince the nation that he isn't a racist," Vance said. "If he runs 'nigger'
now, he destroys himself, win, lose or draw."

U.S. Navy Plans Assault Up Mekong River

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy boats are planning an assault up the Mekong River to help open a 60-mile stretch of the waterway to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, official sources said today. They reported the operation will begin Friday.

If the operation materializes, the Navy boats will be in for some sharp fighting. North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces are dotted along most of the waterway and control the ferry crossing at Neak Luong, 37 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

President Nixon has said he would not send American forces beyond 21.7 miles into Cambodia without seeking congressional approval.

The operation would take half of the 500 Americans involved all the way to Phnom Penh. The sources said there will be 40 U.S. boats and 60 South Vietnamese craft.

The South Vietnamese part of the operation was first disclosed by the Foreign Ministry in an unprecedented public announcement of a future operation.

The U.S. Command had no immediate comment.

The South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry announced earlier today that the Saigon government would soon begin regular road and river convoys to carry food and other supplies to the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese living in Phnom Penh and along the Mekong and Bas-sac rivers. But other sources said a military operation up the Mekong was planned, with the flotilla to include gunboats, heavily armed high-speed patrol boats and landing craft carrying marines.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have seized control of all the villages along the Mekong from the border north to the Neak Luong ferry crossing, 37 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian army is reported to have moved about 2,000 troops into position

10 miles north of Neak Luong, but there was no indication when an attack might be made.

Meanwhile, a 10,000-man
South Vietnamese task force and its American advisers were pulled out of Cambodia. But a fresh ground force prepared to cross the border against an untouched enemy base camp in the western Mekong delta, and some 40,000 other allied troops continued their drives in six other areas of Cambodia. Reports today indicated they were meeting only light resistance.

The South Vietnamese military command said one task force had returned to the western Mekong Delta from Cambodia after "successfully completing their mission to destroy base camps and supply depots" around Ba Thu, in the southern end of the so-called Parrot's Beak 45 miles west of Saigon.

The command said that during the operation the force killed
1,197 enemy troops, captured 168 prisoners, and seized 1,266 weapons, 160 tons of ammunition and 30 tons of rice. Sixty-six South Vietnamese troops were reported killed and 320 wounded.

Allied headquarters claimed that the operations in Cambodia, now in their eighth day, have killed more than 3,000

FTC Eyes Television Commercials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chairman Caspar W. Weinberger of the Federal Trade Commission says one of his agency's chief concerns is the fact that the average American child is exposed to 350,000 televised commercial messages by the time he reaches age 18.

To do its job, Weinberger said Wednesday, the FTC must monitor each year a great many advertising messages as part of its obligation to protect consumers against false advertising.

"Our job is made somewhat easier by what I am sure is the networks' basic ethic that honesty is indeed the best policy," he said. "Under current legal trends, we must also note it is not the advertiser alone who is held to high standards of truth."

Weinberger, who was California's director of finance before his appointment to the federal post four months ago, spoke at a conference of Columbia Broadcasting System television network affiliates.

Of television, Weinberger commented: "Democracy can move rapidly enough when it has to, and television can help immeasurably." He described the medium as potentially "the greatest single force we have for demonstrating, not by sermons, but by example, what our system of freedom really means."

Hickel Suggests Agnew Be Hushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration attacks on young dissenters have been denounced as "inflammatory rhetoric" by the President's own youth adviser and gently criticized by a Cabinet member.

Within hours Tuesday, a letter to the President from Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel suggesting the administration has shown a lack of concern for young people was made public and Nixon appointee Anthony J. Moffett resigned as director of the Office of Students and Youth.

Hickel, who said he had composed the letter for Nixon's eyes only, wrote that administration policies appear "to lack concern for the attitude of a great mass of Americans—our young people."

He politely suggested that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew be muzzled on the subject of student dissent.

"A continued attack on the young—not in their attitudes so much as their motives—can serve little purpose other than further to cement those attitudes to a solidity impossible to penetrate with reason," Hickel wrote.

Moffett, whose rumored resignation became official today with a strongly worded statement on the administration's attitudes toward youth, was less diplomatic.

Nixon, Moffett said in a statement, "has shown that he does not understand young people, nor does he wish to communicate with them."

He decried the President's characterization of rioting students as "bums" and his statement that the death of four Kent State University students by National Guard bullets should "remind us once again that when dissent turns to violence it invites tragedy."

"A tone has been set by this administration that has tended to increase polarization," Moffett said in an interview Wednesday night. "The inflammatory rhetoric in the air by administration officials did not help the situation there (Kent State)."

Hickel pleaded with Nixon to solicit the views of individual cabinet members on the current campus crisis and suggested consultations with college officials.

Although Nixon earlier had declined to meet with 37 college and university presidents on the campus response to U.S. military action in Cambodia, the White House confirmed that the heads of nine campuses conferred in Washington Wednesday night with the President.

Nixon spent nearly an hour Wednesday afternoon with six Kent State students, during which, they said to reporters, they told the President there is a lack of communication between the administration and students.

The President reportedly promised them a full investigation of the shooting deaths at Kent State.

Hickel's assertion the administration cannot afford to alienate the nation's youth was predictably well received among antiwar activists, but they expressed skepticism Nixon would heed his advice.

"The President," said David Hawk, a former coordinator of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee who is now active in the National Student Association's strike, "doesn't listen to anyone."

Hickel, Hawk said, "is absolutely right that the President's actions in Vietnam and Cambodia and his statements and those of the vice president are alienating students. They're alienating parents, too."

Bob Bresnahan, a strike coordinator for the Student Mobilization Committee, said Hickel apparently has recognized the political consequences of the Cambodian incursion and the Kent State killings.

"He has allied himself with the forces within the Republican party who are scared out of their pants by this thing," Bresnahan said.

Hickel, the father of six children, compared today's events with the American Revolution and the Depression, and added: "Today our young people, or at least a vast segment of them, believe they have no opportunity to communicate with government, regardless of administration, other than through violent confrontation. But I am convinced we—and they—have the capacity, if we will have the willingness, to learn from history."

During the revolution, he continued, the protests of Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson "fell on deaf ears, and finally led to war."

In the Depression "our youth lost their ability to communicate with the Republican party. What is happening today is not unrelated to what happened in the '30s. Now being unable to communicate with either party, they are apparently heading down the road to anarchy."

"And regardless of how I, or any American, might feel individually, we have an obligation as leaders to communicate with our youth and listen to their ideas and problems."

New Mobe Plans March In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promising a disciplined, nonviolent demonstration, antiwar protestors vow they will bring a mass march as close to the White House as possible Saturday despite government efforts to keep them blocks away at the Washington Monument.

Protest leaders have pledged to bring more than 30,000 demonstrators to the capital protesting Vietnam, Cambodia, and the killing of four students at Kent State University.

The monument is several blocks away from the White House, and the New Mobe—the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam—rejected that site Wednesday as a "rallying point."

Official Washington reacted nervously. The Justice Department made plans to cordon off a four-block long, two-block wide area surrounding the White House.

"Things are heavy," a flyer put out by the New Mobe on the march said. "Things are very, very heavy."

As never before, the flyer added, the peace movement needs to keep its house in order during a time of rising national emotions.

"We call for a nonviolent, disciplined demonstration on Saturday because to do otherwise would be suicide for the movement and delay the end of the war," reads the flyer, an appeal for marshals to keep order during the demonstrations.

The government and protest leaders have been at odds over logistics since the New Mobe announced plans for the demonstration in the wake of President Nixon's announcement of the U.S. incursion into Cambodia.

Both sides remained far apart Wednesday despite—in sharp contrast to its approach to the massive antiwar rally last November—conciliatory gestures by the government, which went to court to insure the protestors a permit to use the Washington Monument grounds.

Unique Tear Gas Pen Brings Fine

Carrying a concealed weapon was the charge against Nina Vandagriff Boltenhouse Wednesday when she appeared before Judge Sterling Lamb in Municipal Court.

Mrs. Boltenhouse was found guilty of having in her possession a small, pen-like tear gas container with a 22-caliber cartridge in the chamber when she was stopped by police. She was riding in an auto with her brother, Franklin Vandagriff, at the time of her arrest.

Lamb levied a $50 fine and 60 day jail sentence against the woman, but suspended $25 of the fine and the jail sentence. Mrs. Boltenhouse was placed on probation for one year.

night, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he will fight to bar funds for continued U. S. military action in Southeast Asia. He coupled the pledge with a plea for an end to violent campus dissent.

But House action on the Findley resolution gave no clear indication of how Nixon's decision stacks up in Congress.

The proposals to prohibit introduction of U.S. ground combat troops in Cambodia, Laos or Thailand were in three amendments proposed to a $20.24 billion weapons procurement authorization bill.

Findley's amendment added the exception that such troops could be used to the extent the President determined necessary to protect the lives of U. S. troops remaining in South Vietnam.

Opponents said the amendment would give the President almost the same broad authority to wage war as the 1964 Tonkin Gulf Resolution gave former President Lyndon B. Johnson for U.S. escalation in Vietnam.

"This might well authorize the President to drop paratroopers in Peking and Moscow," said Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. "This certainly would protect American troops. It is in these places that the pipeline starts."

But House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the Findley amendment would endorse a U.S. Cambodia military operation designed to "shorten the war and reduce our role in it."

The vote on the Findley amendment, a substitute, kept one by Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., calling for a flat prohibition against U.S. troops in Cambodia, Laos and Thailand from coming to a vote.

An amendment by Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., to prohibit such troop use without the prior consent of Congress was defeated 215 to 132.

A fourth amendment, by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., to prohibit bombing and other assaults against North Vietnam, which he said jeopardized peace talks, was defeated 232 to 70.

A sense-of-Congress amendment by Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., for expeditious withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam and no widening of the war in Indochina was defeated 172 to 140.

The $20.24 billion weapons authorization bill was passed 326 to 69 and sent to the Senate where both the Cambodia drive and major weapons systems faced heavy opposition.

All efforts in the House last week and Wednesday to cut $4 billion from programs including the Safeguard antimissile system were defeated.

Warrant Cause Of Disturbance

An attempt to serve a warrant on a local man caused a disturbance at the American Hotel on N. Court St. early this morning.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Don Thompson and John Bost went to the hotel at 3:30 a.m. to serve a warrant of mental detention on Charles W. Camp, E. Mound St.

Camp refused admission to the officers and barricaded the room door.

The deputies requested assistance from Circleville Police, who responded to the call.

OFFICERS cleared the floor and used tear gas, but to no avail.

Clyde O'Dell, Camp's employer, arrived at 6:30 a.m. and persuaded him to give up to the officers.

Camp is in Pickaway County jail.

80 Colleges Closed Down In Wave Of Restlessness

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 80 colleges and universities were officially closed today in the growing campus protests against the war and the killing of four students at Kent State University in Ohio.

Most of the activities were peaceful but there were incidents of violence that brought National Guardsmen to schools in Kentucky and Illinois and new clashes at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Students at the University of Missouri and Syracuse University burned effigies of President Nixon during rallies.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan closed the entire state college and university system today, asking that the 300,000 students reflect "on the grave sequence of current events."

He also asked the state's 92 two-year junior colleges with 750,000 students and the state's private colleges with about 100,000 to close, and many of them did.

"I want to make it very clear that closing the campuses...is not in any way giving in to those who preach and practice violence," he said in a statewide television talk. "This four-day period is support for those who believe in nonviolence."

Pennsylvania State University, with 18 campuses, was ordered closed, Ohio State University was closed by its president shortly after Gov. James A. Rhodes said all Ohio schools experiencing unrest should be shut.

President Novice G. Fawcett said he took the action because there was an "imminent danger of further disruptions and violence."

Two other state universities, Akron and Miami, canceled classes for the remainder of the week.

The three schools were acting on the advice of Gov. James A. Rhodes, who suggested that all

Woman Burned In Stove Fire

An explosion in a coal stove at 7:31 a.m. this morning has put a 35-year-old Mt. Sterling woman in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Dorothy Callan of Mt. Sterling is listed in serious condition with severe burns over her body as a result of the flash fire.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy John Bost she was attempting to light the stove when a flashback ignited her night clothes.

Mt. Sterling's Fire Department answered the call but there was no damage to the residence.

NSA Becomes Spearhead Of Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles F. Palmer, 23-year-old president of the once-stodgy National Student Association, is in the center of a growing nationwide campus strike movement against the expanded Southeast Asia war.

"We're not just an antiwar group," Palmer said. "We're moving into this because our student constituency is sort of demanding it. They said 'Move' and we had to move."

NSA was long on record against the war but had concentrated its actions on such projects as setting up student-owned corporations, getting legal aid for students and pushing for curriculum reform.

But the U.S. attack into Cambodia last week followed by renewed American air raids in North Vietnam galvanized NSA into action and it volunteered to coordinate the student strikes that began springing up to protest President Nixon's turn in war policy.

Tuesday, the day after National Guard bullets killed four students at Ohio's Kent State University, Palmer said more than 150 campuses were on strike.

Is antiwar sentiment on the rise again?

"The shock still hasn't worn off on Cambodia and I think Kent State is going to exacerbate things. I think there's a consensus, at least among students, that Cambodia was bad."

Why campus strikes?

"People felt they had to respond to Cambodia. Not to respond would have been to legitimize it. People looked to students to tell them it was wrong."

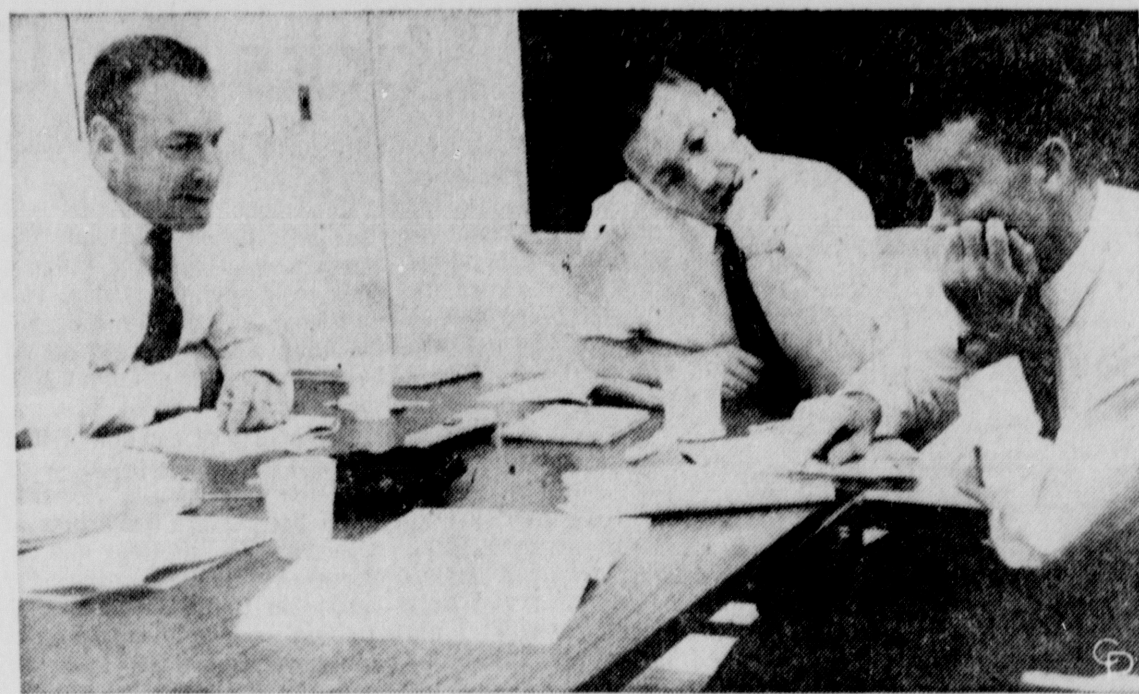

Violence?

"I don't think it is very smart. It just plays into the hands of people who want to mount the repression even worse."

Palmer conceded NSA is in some respects moving into the vacuum left when the National Vietnam Moratorium Committee disbanded April 20, 10 days before Nixon's announcement of the Cambodian operations. David Hawk, who left NSA to join the Moratorium group, is back helping coordinate the strikes.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Virginian," after eight seasons on NBC and with a backlog of 200 or more episodes, is in a better position to entertain warm weather TV audiences than younger shows.

Some of the first programs of the 90-minute series are being rerun. It may not be much fun to sit through a second broadcast of an uninspired show first seen a few months ago, but it is interesting to compare the old "Virginians" with this season's.

Last week there was an episode in which Bette Davis was having a fine time playing the heavy—a spinster bank teller involved in blackmail and thievery. This Wednesday night Lee Marvin developed a very distinctive bad guy—cool, cruel and urbane. When the episode was shot, Marvin was a featured player with star status still beyond his grasp.

James Drury, in the title role, was leaner and infinitely less sure of himself than he is today. Doug McClure, however, seems to have changed little, in looks or in his series character. Neither, frankly, have the stories.

Radical change will come to the range next season. Many of this year's regulars will depart, the name will be changed to "The Men from Shiloh," and Stewart Granger and Lee Majors will be added as alternating guest stars. So much change is planned, in fact, that the film studio turning out the program is exploiting it as a new series.

Change is contemplated in many other quarters as Hollywood moves into production of next season's shows. Walter Brennan, who apparently can't stand inactivity for long, will join John Forsythe's "To Rome, With Love," which seems to have lost Kay Medford, Leslie Nielsen lost his job as top cop when NBC dumped his segment of "The Bold Ones" but will return in September as John Bracken, the hitherto anonymous studio head of the same network's tinsel-town saga, "Braeken's World."

Lesley Warren, who was Lesley Ann Warren when she played the title role in Rodgers and Hammerstein's TV production of "Cinderella," will become the feminine member of the "Mission: Impossible" team. After Barbara Bain's departure from the series, the spot was filled this season by guest stars.

After 17 years, on radio and then television, "College Bowl" appears to be headed into retirement in mid-June. It has lost the sponsor associated with the quiz program since its beginnings. NBC said that unless a new sponsor turns up the show will be off its Sunday schedule next season. John Cleary, owner and producer of the property, still hopes it can be salvaged.

Youth Pays Fine For Flag Jacket

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy has been ordered to pay $15 for wearing on his jacket an American flag which had written on it "Give peace a chance" and a peace symbol.

Bruce Charles Parker of Maiden was assessed court costs Tuesday by Judge P. B. Beachum who found the youth guilty in District Court of violating a North Carolina law which forbids writing or placing anything on the flag. The judge said he found no criminal intent to desecrate the flag.

The youth was arrested April 9 at a meeting at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Crime Amid Plenty

The old adage that crime does not pay has long since been exploded. The sad truth is that often it does pay, and handsomely.

In the United States, crime is the second biggest business, the federal government being the first. Periodically, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, sounds the alarm.

Modern society is stymied in finding reasons why so many turn to crime. The truth seems to be that along with the crumbling of old moral values, there is an attitude of half-tolerance, half-lazy indifference to some forms of crime, particularly robberies.

It is significant that the crime rate keeps pace with affluence in most countries. There is so much more to steal, so much less to do and very little communal indignation.

It is small wonder that crime continues to be a major problem. People have forgotten how to be angry about the important things.

The Very Latest

The latest important survey is the brain child of a British sociologist, and concerns beds. It discloses that people who like lots of blankets on their beds are inclined to be shy and retiring.

But those who dislike their bed covers tucked in tightly "are people of strong opinions," and an individual who tucks his blanket right up to his chin or chins (whichever the case may be) "is insecure."

It can be assumed from these blanket statements that the sociologist also thinks that people who hide their heads under a pillow are not secure.

Such a conclusion will startle some apartment dwellers who up to now had been under the delusion that they were merely trying to shut out the racket from next door.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Nineteen out of 20 victims of gout are male, and those who have never had this painful affliction think it is funny. But if the situation were reversed and 19 out of 20 of its victims were female, nobody would laugh at gout. This is because any disease which chronically affects women is always treated with great sympathy and respect.

A thrifty wife is one who can use her discarded miniskirts to make her husband some of those new-fangled wide ties.

No matter how mighty man becomes, there is always something to keep him humble. For example, he can construct machines that will take him to the moon and back—but still can't take two wire coat hangers off a closet rack without getting them entangled.

When you make a friend after 40, it's usually because you share his weaknesses rather than admire his abilities.

If all the childless couples in America were forced to accept a three-month divorce, three out of four would immediately remarry at the end of that period. But if the divorce were for two years, only half would.

What's in a name? Women used to slap it on a plate and call it hash; now they cook it in a dish and call it a casserole. But you still have to gamble on what the contents are.

One of the annoying things about wives is that they won't believe a husband even if he swears on the Bible, but will take as gospel truth anything a $5 fortune teller or tea leaf reader tells them.

THE NOUVEAU riche owner of a mediocre race horse came home to find it wheezing on its side, with a veterinarian working on it. "It's coming around," the vet nodded.

"It'll be in ship-shape in a week or so." "Thank heaven," said the owner. "I paid a bundle for that nag. Are you sure I'll be able to race him?"

Enthused the vet "Not only will you be able to race him, I think you can beat him."

One chilly morning, a commuter, loath to get out of his warm bed, asked his wife, "What time is it?" She turned resolutely to the wall and answered, "I can't see the clock." "Darling," murmured the experienced husband, "you are the most beautiful, wonderful girl in the world." His wife said, "It's twenty-five minutes after seven."

MORAL: Flattery will turn any wife's head.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I are second cousins. Our two children are healthy. Within the past two years I developed stones in my kidney and my husband developed stones in his gall bladder. Is this just a coincidence or could it be because we are related even distantly?

Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Connecticut Dear Mr. and Mrs. U.: Your letter recalled to me the story of a man who said that he had been reading about the relationship between cigarettes and cancer of the larynx. He said that he had also been reading about the relationship between cigarettes and cancer of the lung. And so he definitely decided to give up reading.

I reacted similarly to the way you obviously avoided medical examinations and easily decided that it was your cousinship that caused the stones. Many people living under the same conditions eating similar foods react differently in health and disease. There are many factors that account for the formation of stones in the gall bladder and in the kidneys. So many of these factors are present that you can be certain that your distant blood ties play no role in the formation of stones.

Kidney stones are attributed to infection, diet, drugs, gout, the acidity of the urine and to many other reasons. Excess vitamins and disturbances of the parathyroid glands are additional reasons, besides those included in the vast category of "unknown." Gallstones are said to exist in more than 10 per cent of all adults, sometimes without any symptoms. Overweight, or infection of the gall bladder, disturbances of cholesterol, metabolism, pregnancy and high fat diet play a role in their deposits.

It might be interesting to look into your family diet pattern as a responsible reason for the formation of stones. Rather than speculate on a hereditary, or cousin relationship, you both should have complete medical surveys to find the exact reason for the family quandary.

A swelling over my neck has been growing larger and larger. I feel perfectly fine but I am afraid that this might lead to trouble. Can such a thyroid growth become malignant?

Mrs. N. S., Ohio Dear Mrs. S.: You live in what was formerly thought to be the thyroid belt. In inland areas in America and in Switzerland very little natural iodine is present in the water. This is probably the major cause of large swellings of the thyroid gland, known as colloid goiter. Fortunately, this condition does not occur as frequently now, because iodine is added to the salt and to water when there is a marked deficiency.

There is very little chance that a colloid goiter will become malignant. I offer this assurance even though it is imperative that it be under constant supervision by a doctor for just such a possibility. There rarely is over activity of the thyroid gland but this can be easily studied. Safe surgery can remove the unpleasant growth on your neck.

Nixon Sticks To Doctrine

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Not so long ago a prominent conservative who knows the ABCs of strategic thinking said of President Nixon: "He is not sure of himself. He can be pushed and pulled by conflicting pressures even to the point of giving up a policy or course of action which he strongly believes in."

I spare mention of the critic's name, for now, after the courageous Nixon decision to give support to the South Vietnamese army as it moves against the Vietcong just over the border in Cambodia, I am sure he is happily eating his words. As a matter of fact the critic could not have been really surprised by the Nixon action, for, in the same statement, he had paid respect to the President's "almost instinctual appreciation of Communism in all its aspects, including its ultimate purpose and its general modus operandi." Militarily speaking, the "ultimate purpose" of the Communists is to outflank the Free World.

The great trouble in the U.S. as is proved practically everyday by the Senatorial doves, is that our geographical distance from what might be called the hinges of the world — Singapore, Suez, Gibraltar — inhibits our common sense. We have a philosophical interest in opposing Communism anywhere, but, prudentially, we can't take the Marxists on in their own heartland areas. As Hitler and Napoleon both proved by failure, Moscow is "out of bounds." But we can use our power, preferably in an indirect way, to keep the Communists from outflanking our own democratic heartland areas in western Europe and the western hemisphere. Douglas MacArthur knew this — and, incidentally, he was against committing U.S. infantrymen on the Asian land-basis into Cambodia or Laos.

The Russians themselves don't fight with direct manpower commitment. Where they don't have contiguous borders with the nations they have marked out to hold for "socialism" (Hungary, Czechoslovakia) they limit their aid to armaments, advisers and behind-the-line technicians. They get maximum yardage without shedding Russian blood. Are we to suppose that Nixon, who learned about Communist strategy and tactics from that most learned of all teachers, the late Whit-taker Chambers, is any less intelligent than Brezhnev? If Nixon ever does send American ground troops into Cambodia or Laos in any kind of mass, I'll eat my words in any public place that Senator George Aiken chooses.

Nixon is going to take a terrifying amount of flak from the doves and the Left in general for his decision to let the South Vietnamese conduct their own war as part of "Vietnamization." It is important that his supporters try to explain the decision in terms that will be understandable to a nation of football fans who, every Sunday in the Fall, watch the behemoths try to turn a flank here, or go overhead there. The Southeast Asian flank must be protected, but without taking too much strength from our "center," which means the home front.

Strategy dictates aid to the Cambodians without committing masses of U.S. troops. Incidentally, this is what the Guam Doctrine is about. Nixon is consistent, and he is sure of himself.

It is precisely because Nixon knows the "general modus operandi" of the Moscow Communists that he won't send drafted U.S. ground soldiers, or "grunts," on any continuing

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Dear Editor:

There are many things the concerned citizen can do to help save our environment from further dirt.

Air pollution can be lessened by not burning trash or leaves, walking or forming car pools to cut exhaust and using gas with lead.

Our mounting trash problems can be slowed by buying drinks in returnable containers, buying food items in bulk, reporting the license numbers of those you see dumping along the roads and by learning to pick up litter wherever you find it.

Water pollution can be abated by reporting signs of trash, discoloration and dead fish to your county board of health or the state division of wildlife. Housewives who are concerned should take pains to use laundry detergents that break down after use (bio-degradable). Detergents with a large amount of phosphate are the cause of much pollution.

If you would like a list of popular laundry products and their phosphate content, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to: Detergent List, League of Ohio Sportsmen, Box 50, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Involving you in the great cleanup is the only way we will be able to hand our children a healthy planet.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, May 7, the 127th day of 1970. There are 238 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, representatives of the German High Command signed unconditional surrender terms at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's temporary headquarters at Rheims, France.

On this date: In 1789, the first inaugural ball was held in New York in honor of President and Mrs. George Washington.

In 1830, the United States and Turkey signed a treaty opening the Black Sea to American ships.

In 1833, the composer, Johannes Brahms, was born in Hamburg, Germany.

In 1915, a German submarine torpedoed and sank the British liner Lusitania off Ireland.

Nearly 1,200 lives were lost. In 1939, the military and political alliance known as the Rome-Berlin axis was announced by Germany and Italy.

In 1954, Communist forces in Indochina captured the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Ten years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said a Soviet rocket had downed an American U2 spy plane, that the pilot had been captured, had confessed to espionage and would be tried.

Five years ago — A mistrial was declared in the Lowndes County, Ala., trial of Collier LeRoy Wilkins Jr. for the murder of a Detroit civil rights worker, Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

One year ago — The British liner, Queen Elizabeth 2 received an enthusiastic welcome on its first arrival in New York.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — It is unlikely that anything less than 99.9 per cent of the adult American population is on mailing lists of some sort or another, and that can include any of several hundred categories.

If you ever went to school or wrote away for something you're listed. You can't escape. Your name is worth money to thousands of companies. While it may be sold to them for only 2 cents, you are, remember, only one of millions.

Mailing lists are compiled constantly from automobile registrations, telephone books, club rosters, graduation lists, birth announcements, newspaper stories, other mailing lists and surveys.

In some states, automobile registration lists are regularly provided to list assemblers. Some schools, or their employees, will sell graduation lists to compilers. Owners of lists in one category sell them to companies in related fields.

That they are on mailing lists is hardly news to 99.9 per cent of adult Americans who have become accustomed, with varying degrees of annoyance, to having their letter boxes stuffed with unsolicited mail.

Now the Supreme Court has apparently decided that you don't have to sit back and take it any longer. If you don't want to accept this so-called pollution of the mails you may inform the post office that you wish deliveries to cease.

The Post Office, so notified, will then order the mailer to refrain from sending any more materials. Moreover, the mailer will be compelled to delete the complainant's name from his mailing lists.

Originally the right to have one's name deleted from mailing lists was meant to protect recipients from advertisements for sex books, magazines and similar materials. It was incorporated in a 1967 law.

In a Supreme Court ruling this week, however, the law seems to have been extended to cover any unsolicited mail, regardless of content. Every individual, Chief Justice Burger ruled, has a right to be left alone.

Logical as this ruling may sound to many Americans, it is certain to be a source of irritation to many companies for years to come. Thousands of legitimate firms are involved in mail order advertising. And billions of dollars in goods are moved by such ads.

The direct mail advertiser forces the recipient to handle his message. Otherwise, the recipient's mail box becomes cluttered with the very material he seeks to avoid.

So why shouldn't he be able to protect himself? That, in effect, is what the Supreme Court asked and then answered. But mail advertisers contend that such restrictions limit their right of free speech.

WONDERLAND — Perched atop a mammoth mushroom, Humpty Dumpty (Lynn McCoy) worries that she might topple off during her encounter with Alice (Twana Moats) in a scene from the Logan Elm Senior Class play, "Alice in Wonderland". The fantasy will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 in the high school auditorium. On hand to greet both the young and the young at heart who come to visit the unusual wonderland with Alice will be Mother Goose herself. Original costumes and colorful stage effects set the charm of an evening of light-heartedness, all under the direction of William Chandler.

Scientist Says Technology Will Beat Food Shortage

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A massive injection of technology can keep the world fed over the next 30 years despite booming population, an eminent scientist says.

"The natural resources available to present technology are sufficient to allow a vast improvement in the standard of living of all the people who will inhabit the earth 20 to 30 years from now," said Dr. Robert Revelle, director of the Harvard Center for Population Studies. Speaking at the opening of a three-day conference on technological change and population growth Wednesday at California Institute of Technology, Revelle asserted that birth control—although necessary—cannot be a substitute for economic development.

Some at the conference disagreed with Revelle. "We cannot use the same technological bludgeon on the underdeveloped countries that we have used on our own, seriously deteriorating our environment," said John P. Holdren of Stanford University.

"There is no such thing as a free lunch," Holdren said. "It is paid for by someone." Revelle said a "green revolution" is under way in some underdeveloped countries to feed the hungry with high-yield varieties of wheat, rice and cereals. "If it is to continue," he said, "large expenditures for development of irrigation water, transportation, storage, food processing, and fertilizers must be made."

Speaking to newsmen before the conference, Revelle said the United States should:

- Provide more aid to the underdeveloped countries.
- Encourage birth control.
- Try to tell the other rich countries how serious the problem really is so they will not turn their backs on the rest of the world.

Electric Paint Used For Heating

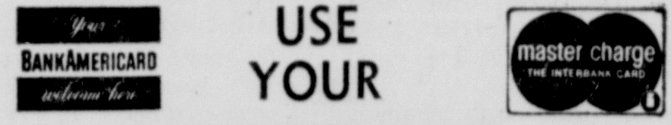

LONDON (AP) — Researchers say an electricity-conducting paint developed for use on American space vehicles may revolutionize home heating. When voltages too low to cause fires or shocks are used, painted walls and ceilings become heat sources. A wall at a London research center has been giving off heat for more than eight months.

Mexican Police Charge 1,111 In Drug Cases

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government has charged 1,111 persons in connection with illegal marijuana growth and traffic since the joint U.S.-Mexican "Operation Cooperation" began last year.

Atty. Gen. Julio Sanchez Vargas said Tuesday the charges were the result of 537 investigations which also brought about the confiscation and destruction of a large quantity of marijuana and other drugs.

Of those indicted, Sanchez said, 162 were from the United States, 2 Canadians, 1 German, 3 Colombians and 1 Arab.

He added 355,000 marijuana plants were destroyed and 165.5 tons of the illegal drug were confiscated.

Mrs. Marion's Class Holds Mother-Daughter Banquet

Mrs. Marion's Class of Community United Methodist Church held its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in the social rooms of the church Monday evening. The dinner was served by Sarah Circle to 43 members and guests.

Spring flowers were used in decorations carrying out the yellow color scheme. Place cards were marked with stickers of Bible covers. Favors were Praying Hands and miniature framed pictures of Stallman's Christ.

Mrs. N. E. Reichelderger gave the invocation preceding the dinner. Mrs. Elmer Yeatts served as toastmistress for the program. Mrs. Herbert Southard welcomed the mothers and Miss Vickie Southard gave the response for the daughters.

Officers for the year were introduced. Mrs. Milton Griest welcomed those present and thanked all who had served on the committees.

Class members introduced their guests who were Mrs. Carl Seymour, Mrs. Forrest Easterday Jr., Mrs. Rae R. Bales, Dr. Lloyd Sprouse, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Wachs, Mrs. William Winter, Mrs. Myron Pettit, Mrs. David Glick, Mrs.

Martin Cromley, Mrs. Charles Savage.

Paul Dunkle, Mrs. Eloise Dunkle, Miss Clarisa Talbot, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. Lester George, Mrs. Gene Thomerson, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Reichelderger, Mrs. Mack Wise, Mrs. William Heiskell and Nelson Embry.

Mr. Dunkle accompanied eight of his Circleville All Boy's Choir who sang "Hi Neighbor," "Hello Dolly," "For The Beauty Of The Earth," "Michael Row," "Pop Goes The Weasel" and "This Land."

Mr. Embrey, president and general manager of radio station WNRE spoke about the broadcasting station.

The next meeting will be held June 1 in the home of Mrs. Griest, Logan Elm Village.

Meeting Scheduled By Busy Bees

Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Group will meet 11 a.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. John R. Dixon, 1080 Sunshine St.

A sack lunch will be served at noon and during the program a plant exchange will be featured.

The Garden Corner

DOWNTOWN BEAUTY — The Kwanzan Cherry tree shown in the planter above is one of the seven beautifying the downtown shopping area. This tree for the past few weeks has had its branches covered with delicate pink blossoms that look almost like miniature roses. The other trees in planters are European Little Leaf Linden, Mountain Ash, Clump Birch and Flowering Crab. Plants or shrubbery around the trees add to the beauty.

By MARION SINES

The Garden Corner will become a weekly feature of The Herald Society page during the spring, summer and early fall months. Persons who have garden information to contribute to the column should contact Marion Sines at The Herald.

Miss Ada Whitmer of 459 E. Ohio St., found four yellow tulips growing from one stem in her garden.

A well known seed distributor has sent to individuals seeds for new varieties of flowers which will be on the market next year. Included are four types of sweetpeas, and as most gardeners know they usually are a disappointment. They will be watched with interest and reported on when results are evident.

Tulip time at Kingwood Center in Mansfield is close at hand. By Mother's Day, May 10, 60,000 bulbs of over 100 different varieties should be at their flowering best. For added interest the annual Arts And Crafts At Work show sponsored by the Brush and Palette Art Club will be in progress.

The so-called "Golden" edition of the "Handbook For Selecting Roses" is again available from the American Rose Society, 4048 Roselea Place, Columbus, Ohio 43214. This is the revised edition which will be in effect until Sept. 1. Mail orders will be filled by the society if 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope are sent.

More than 1,000 roses are listed and the latest information given about the height, color and national rating of each. The size is 3 1/2 x 6 1/2 inches.

The Washington D. C. Youth Garden Council is a unique gardening program to enable inner-city children to plan, plant and harvest their own gardens. The American Assn. of Nurserymen has published a booklet entitled "Youth Gardens ... A Unique Opportunity For Your Community" which outlines the program and gives guidelines for other communities to begin similar projects.

The booklet contains an introduction to the program, the history of one Washington Youth Garden, and a step-by-step outline for beginning a Youth Garden project. The program is based on the concept that if you give children seeds, tools, a plot of ground, and little guidance they will create a garden.

Copies of the booklet are available at 25 cents each from the Washington Youth Garden Council c/o American Assn. of Nurserymen, 835 Southern Building, Washington, D. C. 20005.

Brood X, the biggest brood of 17 Year Locusts, is due to hit the Circleville area.

They can be expected to strike in late May and early June of the year. Brood X has not appeared since 1953. The 17 Year Locust is a cicada, a short antennae member of the grasshopper family, and it can damage plant life, often fatally. In late May or early June, the nymphs emerge from beneath the ground, where they have spent the 17 years of their worm-like larva period. They climb the stalks of trees, shrubs and herbaceous plants and shed their nymph skins, emerging as very hungry adults. The locusts start to devour greenery instantly.

It is suggested to have a supply of recommended pesticide on hand and ready to use in a hose end sprayer. Spraying should be done from middle May to the middle of June for as many as 20,000 locusts may emerge from underneath a single tree.

Church Class Has Program On 'Mother'

"Mother" was the theme of the program, conducted by Mrs. Russell Jones, when the Loyal Daughters' Class of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church met in the service center Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Jones read Proverbs 31 and offered prayer. The group sang, "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again," "My Mother's Prayer" and "Meet Mother in the Skies." A guest, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, presented two vocal solos, "God's Masterpiece", and "My Mother's Bible."

Readings were given by Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Porter Martin, Mrs. Oland Schooley and Miss Clara Lathouse.

Mrs. John Kerns, president, conducted a short business meeting.

It was announced that the class will furnish a gift for the youngest mother present in the worship service on Mother's Day.

Prayers were offered for Mrs. Harry Gard, Mrs. Porter Martin and Mrs. Kerns.

Mrs. Clydus Leist and Mrs. Cleon Webb were winners of the contests. The door prize was awarded to Mrs. Merz.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clifford Davis, Mrs. Stanley Goodman, Mrs. George Ankrom and Mrs. Roy Robbins. Twenty-six members and guests were present for the evening.

Bowling League Ends Season With Banquet

Prairie Squaws bowling league held its season-end banquet Tuesday evening at the Wardell Party Home.

Trophies were presented to winning teams. First place to Barbara Betts, Mildred Fischer and Nancy Strawser. Second place winners were Violet Clifton, Virginia Davis and Barbara Davis.

Trophies for individuals were awarded to Nancy Strous, high average, 148; Rosemary Flowers, high series, 533; Barbara Betts, High game, 205; Charlotte Coleman, high series with handicap, 579; Mildred Timmons, high game with handicap, 238, and Virginia Marshall, most improved bowler, 15 pins.

Officers elected for the coming year are Virginia Marshall, president; Dorothy Morgan, vice president, and Rosemary Flowers, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Barbara Ann Jenkins Weds Mr. Thomas Duvall

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS TEEGARDIN DUVALL

The altar of the Tarlton United Methodist Church was adorned with vases and baskets of white gladioli, pompon mums and seven branch candelabra for the wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Jenkins and Mr. Thomas Teegardin Duvall.

The Rev. Donald Cummins performed the double ring ceremony 7:30 p.m. April 11, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jenkins of Tarlton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Duvall, Route 1, Ashville.

Mrs. Dale Fogler, organist, presented a program preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar down the aisle where white satin bows and bridal wreath decorated the pews. She selected for her wedding day a floor length gown of sheer crepe over taffeta. The bodice featured an empire waistline with small covered buttons enhancing the back and long full sleeves fitted at the waist. Daisy appliques were scattered over the skirt. Her shoulder length veil of sheer illusion was held by a crown studded with pearls. The bride's bouquet was made of white roses pompon mums and white stain streamers with bow knots.

Mrs. John Pontius served her sister as matron of honor, dressed in a floor length gown of yellow violet with a white floral border and styled similar to the bride's Her headpiece was a brief veil of yellow illusion. Bridesmatron and bridesmaid were Mrs. John J. Jenkins, sister-in-law of the bride, from Grove City, and Miss Sue Schenbeck of Wooster. They were dressed as the matron of honor and carried identical colonial bouquets of white pompon mums and yellow sweetheart roses with mint green streamers. Miss Patti Pontius presided at the guest book.

Flower girl was Pamela Kiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Forrest Kiser of Stoutsville. She wore a white dress similar to the bride's gown with short puffed sleeves and yellow velvet streamers. Ring bearer was Douglas Pontius, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pontius and a nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Jenkins was attired in a two-piece shrimp colored knit dress with bone accessories. Mrs. Duvall wore a canary yellow linen dress with yellow and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of tangerine carnations and yellow sweetheart roses.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony. A bower of vines decorated with doves backed the refreshment table centered with a four tiered cake topped with the traditional bride and groom figurines. Yellow and white roses with greenery encircled the base of the cake, flanked with silver candelabra. Punch was served from a crystal bowl.

Hostesses were Miss Jeanine Leist, Mrs. Stephen Rittinger, Mrs. James Daft and Mrs. Albert Spangler.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple now resides at Natrona Heights, Pa.

The new Mrs. Duvall is a graduate of Columbus Business University and attended Ohio State University. Mr. Duvall, a graduate of Ohio State University, is employed at Spring Dale plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Industries at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Michigan, Kentucky, Maryland Pennsylvania; Minnesota, Montana and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Duvall were hosts for a rehearsal dinner on Friday evening preceding the wedding.

Bride-Elect Joy Welsh Is Honored

Miss Joy Welsh, bride-elect of Steve Steinhauser, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Charles Carle Jr., 94 Evergreen Ave., on Tuesday evening.

Games were played with prizes won by Miss Sheila Eitel, Judy Beard, Miss Nancy Fee and Miss Welsh. The prizes were given to the honored guest.

A dessert course was served by the hostess to Miss Welsh, Miss Eitel, Miss Fee, Mrs. Beard, Miss Patsy Betts, Miss Patty Welsh, of Circleville; Miss Mary Ellen Downs, Route 1, Orient, and Miss Sharon Tolliver, Covington, Ky.

Open House Honors Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shasteen of Albuquerque, N. M., have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shasteen, 1070 Atwater Ave.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Shasteen entertained with open house in honor of their guests.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kervin Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reynolds, Mrs. Ruth Hooks, all of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, Chillicothe; Mrs. James Hoffmann, Tina and Rose Marie; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Shasteen, Brett and Robin; Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Shasteen, William J. Shasteen, Circleville, and Bill Williams, Kingston.

When buying meats, cost per serving, not cost per pound, is the best measure of value. A boneless roast yields more servings per pound than a bone-in roast and the cost per serving may be less, even though the cost per pound is higher.

For a change of flavor, sprinkle a little nutmeg over a bowl of oyster stew before serving it.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

"The Rain Puddle" by A. Claude Holl, pictures by Roger Duvoisin. With his dependable extreme clarity, Roger Duvoisin has illustrated this simple "Chicken-Little" type story. As each animal sees his reflection in the puddle, he reports that someone different has fallen into the water. Only the wise old owl was undisturbed. He chuckled to himself. Picture book.

"A Book About God" by Florence Mary Fitch, illustrated by Leonard Weisgard. In its 11th printing, this poetical book is direct and simple. It was written for children of all faiths, using nature's beauty to relate the wonders of creation. Picture book.

"I Like Butterflies" by Gladys Conklin, pictures by Barbara Latham. More than twenty butterflies, and several moths are identified here. Detailed drawings, accompany the text basic in its approach. After all, to teach science, one must begin with beauty. Picture book.

"Otis Spofford" by Beverly Cleary, illustrated by Louis Darling. Except for learning things, Otis liked school. "Oh, for gunny sacks!" he liked to say, when he needed a phrase for emphasis. Otis has all the charm of Mrs. Cleary's other lovable characters, from Henry Huggins to Ellen Tebbits (she's in this book, too.) He created a ticklish situation for his teachers when he was the front end of the bull at the pageant. He wanted to stir things up a bit, so he butted the toreador right in his velvet-covered rear. This bit was the hit of the show, though unfortunately George, the toreador, failed to see its humor. When Otis cut Ellen's curls, she got even by snatching his shoes at the pond. He had to wobble all the way home on his ice skates. And he had to promise to cut out the teasing. "Cross my heart, hope to die and stew and fry." Grades 4-6.

There is a lovely new copy of Kipling's "Just So Stories" in the library. It contains the author's black and white illustrations on those color plates made famous by J. M. Gleason. Every boy and girl should know the "Elephant's Child" and "How the Camel Got his Hump." Grades 4-6.

"Contrary Jenkins" by Rebecca Caudill and James Ayers, illustrated by Glen Rounds. What a delightful book this collaboration has produced! Glen Rounds can express more in one brush stroke than most artists can in a gallery. His Contrary shouts subborn perverse opposition in every gesture. This is the first time Rebecca Caudill has combined her efforts with those of her husband to write a book. The result is sly, rib tickling humor that will appeal to children and the adults who read this story aloud. Contrary is a "Tennessee hill man, and beyond that, I won't tell you. Too contrary. Grades 4-6.

Oil Company Faces Charges Over Pollution

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In the first action of its kind, a federal grand jury has indicted a major oil company on charges arising from a massive offshore oil spill.

The Chevron Oil Co. was cited Tuesday on 900 counts of willfully violating government regulations aimed at preventing pollution from oil wells drilled at sea.

Conviction on all counts could result in fines totaling $1.8 million.

In Washington, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, who had asked for the grand jury probe of Chevron's offshore operations, said enforcement of federal oil well safety rules is going to be strict.

"We will be fair but we will be tough," said Hickel. "The future of our environment is at stake in those offshore areas which are precious for many other resources besides oil and gas."

The grand jury said Chevron knowingly and willfully failed to install and maintain storm chokes or similar subsurface control devices on 90 oil wells off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We are confident that when the case is tried, we will be completely vindicated," said K. H. Shaffer of New Orleans, president of Chevron.

The company is owned by Standard Oil of California, one of the nation's biggest oil firms.

The indictment stemmed from an investigation which began March 31—the day Chevron finally capped the last of a cluster of wild wells connected to a platform standing in 40 feet of water, 30 miles off the coast.

A fire had erupted on the platform Feb. 10, touching off a gush of oil and gas which burned until the flames were snuffed out by a dynamite blast March 10. For the next 21 days, the oil spewed into the Gulf while specialists struggled to tame the wells.

Indictments against Chevron were the first under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953, which provides a maximum $2,000 fine for each day of each violation.

Ex-Nuns Find Outside World Filled With Jolts

By DEE WEDEMYER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When they leave their old world for a new, it is a shock, like Rip Van Winkle awakening.

There are so many adjustments to make that people on the outside take for granted—dress, money, dating, even makeup.

They are the ex-nuns. An estimated 8,000 left the religious life alone last year to rejoin the secular young of their generation.

One of them is Barbara Kane. Before she had been simply Sister Matthew Maureen.

Her first jolt was the routine of applying for a job.

"I thought what am I getting myself into," said Barbara, 27, who found interviews were just the beginning of a series of rude awakenings she would have before settling into a Manhattan apartment.

Then there were "dating" bars. She found that scene too desperate and awkward when asked the standard, "Who do you know?" and "Where have you been?"

"I also wrote my friends and told them they should have practiced a few four letter words on me."

Dating proved no problem.

Barbara, a plain but friendly blonde, who was in orders eight years, quickly learned dance steps. But it took her about 11 hours to learn to apply eyeliner.

Then there were "dating" bars. She found that scene too desperate and awkward when asked the standard, "Who do you know?" and "Where have you been?"

Barbara didn't want to lie about her past, but she didn't want to advertise it either.

"They start asking what you did last summer and when you went to Europe last," she said.

"You get worn out trying to tell the truth and not tell the truth."

Another ex-nun, Ginny Schulte, 31, a former Dominican sister, was given $300 by her order and $100 by a relative.

Totally bewildered about how to write a resume or get a job, she went to Bearings for Reestablishment, Inc., an organization that aids about 1,500 former nuns and priests each year with job counseling and social rehabilitation.

"It's a strange sensation to go out on a job interview selling yourself," said Ginny, a nun 13 years.

Although she was a qualified teacher, her first job was as a $110-a-week secretary to pay her apartment deposit.

She has since found a $10,500-a-year job as supervisor of teachers at a large Manhattan association for the handicapped but her Bronx studio apartment is still only partially furnished.

Ironically Ginny said, one of her main problems has been adjusting to poverty.

"My standard of living was a lot higher when I was in the convent but everything is relative. For example, I could never have had a bright yellow chair in the convent." Now she does in her apartment.

She also spent $100 at a discount store for her wardrobe. And now, like many other women, she has found her tastes have changed.

"Getting clothes wasn't as difficult as trying to decide what I liked," she said.

Barbara still attends Mass regularly. Ginny has stopped going. Barbara says she would consider birth control if she married. Ginny would not hesitate to practice it and furthermore states emphatically she would not rear her children in the same strict Catholic manner in which she was reared.

"I consider myself a good Catholic but I would not put my children through the same brainwashing process I went through," said Ginny.

Barbara harbors no animosity toward the order or the years she spent there. She thinks it is a fine vocation for some people, just not her.

"I don't think I was unhappy as a sister," she said. "I'm just freer as a person and I represent myself now."

Ginny cites internal politics and philosophical differences as her reasons for leaving.

Governor To OK School Prayer

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Francis W. Sargent told a news conference Tuesday he would sign into law a bill allowing voluntary prayer in public schools as long as the prayers are held before the beginning of each day's classes and without a teacher being present.

Sargent said he based his decision on a Suffolk County Superior Court case allowing prayers in a Leyden school.

That decision, however, is being appealed to the state Supreme Court by Neil V. Sullivan, state commissioner of education who said the prayers are unconstitutional.

Portage County Prosecutor Wants Guard Left At Kent

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Weary National Guardsmen continued their exodus today from Kent State University, whose barricaded, empty campus has become the rallying point for swiftly-spreading antiwar demonstrations at colleges around the nation in memory of the four students killed in a peace rally Monday.

Nearly half of the 900 helmeted, carbine-carrying soldiers pulled out Wednesday, another 300 will be out by nightfall and the remainder are to be gone Friday noon and be replaced by Ohio State Patrolmen.

It was a move ordered by Gov. James A. Rhodes but met with disfavor by Ronald Kane, the Portage County prosecutor who obtained the court injunction after Monday's violent demonstration that closed Kent State to its 19,000 students.

Kane wanted the guard to stay until next Monday.

"Most disturbances occur on weekends," Kane told a newsman. "The situation is still a potentially eruptive and explosive one. Maybe something could erupt tonight or tomorrow."

University President Robert I. White said he has no definite plans on when classes will resume, or how. The injunction automatically expires Wednesday unless a court hearing determines it should be extended. "I want to make sure that before Kent State is reopened that everybody can do business there peacefully," Kane said.

"There should be a reasonable time imposed here where the blood can cool, so safety can be assured to all."

Investigations by FBI agents and guard officers on how the shooting occurred are still shrouded in secrecy.

The American Civil Liberties Union said Wednesday it is conducting its own investigation and taking testimony that could guard against distortion of the events in official investigations.

It said it was also trying to meet with the Portage County Bar Association to turn over complaints of civil rights violations — alleged rough handling, poor treatment, and overcrowded confinement in jail, from persons arrested last weekend before the shooting occurred.

Meanwhile, three students most seriously wounded in the shooting remained in guarded condition at Robinson Memorial Hospital in nearby Ravenna.

Bunker Denies He's Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker says reports that he has already turned in his resignation as U.S. envoy to South Vietnam are erroneous.

Bunker, who arrived in Washington Wednesday night with Philip Habib, U.S. ambassador at the Paris peace talks, only smiled when asked if the retirement rumors would be true in the near future.

The 75-year-old diplomat has served in Saigon for over three years and returned here for consultations expected to last about 10 days.

Metzenbaum Overcomes Image As 'Unknown'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — When Howard M. Metzenbaum launched his campaign last fall to corral the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, he had one big strike against him. Few people knew who Howard M. Metzenbaum was, while the name of his opponent, former astronaut John Glenn, was a "household word."

Metzenbaum is a former state representative, an office he won a year after graduating from Ohio State Law School in 1942, and also served in the State Senate. But that was two decades ago.

He managed the successful election campaigns of U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young in 1958 and 1964, but Metzenbaum was the man in the background.

A poll taken last November showed how bad the "identification gap" was for the Metzenbaum forces. The poll indicated that only 10 per cent of the state's residents knew the Metzenbaum name, compared to the 95 per cent who knew the name John Glenn.

"When I announced for the Senate last fall," he declared, "I said I might not make it a household word, but I would let people know there is a Howard Metzenbaum."

Ohio voters demonstrated last Tuesday how well a campaign which reportedly cost more than one million dollars had succeeded. At least 427,294 Democrats had learned who Howard Metzenbaum was and apparently liked the Metzenbaum attack, which focused primarily on a criticism of President Nixon.

The Metzenbaum victory margin was a slim 12,446 votes.

Metzenbaum, 52, is best known in Cleveland as the man who built the Airport Parking Co. of America (APCOA) into a multi-million dollar business. Some people still refer to him as "the parking lot man," although Metzenbaum stepped down from that business in 1968. Metzenbaum said one of the reasons he "retired" as chairman of ITT Consumer Services Corp., which operates APCOA,

Northeast Has Spell Of May Chill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An unseasonable Maytime chill fell across the nation's Northeast today and dropped temperatures into the 30s from the Virginias to Maine.

The mercury staggered to 22 at Bradford, Pa., in the pre-dawn hours.

Snow fell in the western Adirondacks of upstate New York and in sections of northern New England Wednesday. Up to 2 inches whitened an area east of Boonville, N.Y., where the temperatures failed to rise above 32 Wednesday.

Cool air spreading over the far West also brought snow to parts of Nevada. Five inches was on the ground at Austin, in the state's central section.

Frost or freeze warnings were in effect overnight from the Eastern Midwest to New England and the Middle Atlantic states and the region south into the Virginias.

In contrast, a warming trend fanning through the midcontinent drove temperatures into the 80s Wednesday from the Gulf Coast to the Dakotas.

was that he wanted to "get out of the business world while I still had the vigor and vitality to participate in the causes in which I believe."

The causes are many — so many Metzenbaum can't recite the list of 40 or 50 organizations in which he serves as a board member or trustee.

He is chairman of the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, a member of the board of the National Council on Hunger

Williamsport Sponsors Clinic

A Preschool Clinic for all children who will enroll in the first grade in Williamsport next year will be held at the school Monday.

All children must be six years of age on or before Sept. 30 to be eligible to attend school.

Public Health Nurse Mrs. Helen Pickens, will be in attendance from 9 to 11 a.m. to check each child and to obtain records of immunization and other data required for school enrollment. Mrs. Pickens will administer shots to those desiring them.

Parents are to accompany their children to the registration and are asked to bring a birth certificate and a record of immunization if available. Current first grade students will be dismissed for the day so that Mrs. Shipley and Mrs. Skinner, the two first grade teachers, may become acquainted with the youngsters and their parents. The administration asks that children not be sent with an older brother or sister.

Parents and children may obtain lunch in the school cafeteria at the May 11th registration date.

Although he insists he is retired from business, Metzenbaum bought a chain of weekly newspapers last year and is active in a law partnership.

High Court Turns Down Stokes Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday said Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes could not be removed from office for any malfeasance that may have occurred in his first term.

Although the court denied Stokes' appeal to halt the lower court action, its ruling apparently closed the book on the case.

Roy F. Richards and four others attempted to have Stokes removed from office because he withdrew white police officers from the scene of 1968 rioting.

At the time of the incident, Stokes was serving his first term as mayor. He had attempted to stop the case in the Court of Appeals but was turned down.

The complaint against Stokes was filed Sept. 30, 1968 in Cuyahoga County Probate Court. Stokes argued that court was without jurisdiction in the case.

The high court said Ohio law does not authorize a public official's removal for any misconduct "occurring in a term prior to re-election."

The court upheld a lower court ruling ordering a new trial for Richard Earl Nutter of Conneaut, convicted of having carnal knowledge of an insane woman.

Both the court of Appeals in Ashtabula and the high court said the judge erred in informing the jury that the complaining witnesses was incompetent to testify.

The court sent back to Ross County Common Pleas Court for trial a suit by the Chillicothe Board of Education to recover $137,000, amount of a bid bond, from Sever-Williams Co., a construction firm, and its bid-bondsman, Federal Insurance Co.

The board brought an action when the firm refused to enter into a construction contract after being accepted as low bidder on a $1.2 million school building project. Sever-Williams said it had overlooked an item of $145,000.

Both the Common Pleas Court and the appellate court upheld defendants motion for dismissal.

The Supreme Court held that laws which applied in the case permit cancellation or withdrawal of a bid only before sealed bids are formally opened.

Like Sen. Young, Metzenbaum is an ardent sports activist. He said he plays tennis, golf, rides horseback and enjoys skiing and water skiing. "I love to participate in sports, and there are practically none in which I don't participate."

He and his wife, Shirley, have four daughters — Barbara, 22, a senior at the University of Wisconsin, Susan, 20, who transferred from the University of Arizona to the University of Cincinnati to be closer to the senatorial campaign, Shelly, 18, a senior at Shaker Heights High, and Amy, 12. He is a member of Fairmount Temple congregation.

At one time Metzenbaum enjoyed doing battle with private clubs that practiced discrimination against Jews and Negroes. He launched a successful fight several years ago to end restrictions at Manakiki and Sleepy Hollow Golf Clubs, opening them to the public.

He once vowed to "crack" the exclusive Union Club in downtown Cleveland, but conceded that is one battle he lost.

"It seems there are so many other things more important," he said. He says he is interested in "the whole question of hunger, drive and delinquency, poverty, hospitals, human rights . . ."

And how does this fit into his desire to be a senator?

"That would be the fullest implementation. Instead of just sitting on a committee and asking people to do things, you're right where the action is!"

Court Receipts Still Increasing

Naomi Houghton, clerk of the Circleville Municipal Court, reported an increase in business during April.

Total fines, costs and bond forfeitures collected were $13,270.72, up from last month's figures.

Of this amount, $6,842.72 will be turned over to the city, $3,919.40 to Pickaway County and $2,364.30 to the state treasurer. Other payments include $103.80 to the Sheriff's Dept., $30 to the Department of Natural Resources, $3 to Berger Hospital and Lloyd M. Shupe.

Criminal cases filed during April came to 486 with 683 finished. Fines and costs suspended on three cases totalled $1,157.

Fourteen civil cases were finished and 10 concluded with $185.40 still due the city for costs.

In the small claims court, 36 cases were written on the books and 32 finished. $84.20 is owed the city for costs on these suits.

Presidential Facts Versus Fallacies

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT

By JERRY KLEIN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper
If you think that the U.S. president who died just 25 years ago this Sunday (April 12) was a victim of polio, an avid stamp collector and an only child you are absolutely right.

However, if you think he was the grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt or the only president to seek a third term in office, you're absolutely wrong—though these are among the most common fallacies about our chief executives.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who died just a quarter-century ago at Warm Springs, Ga., didn't order the dropping of the first atomic bomb, either. That responsibility fell to his successor, Harry Truman, about four months after Roosevelt's sudden death just as World War II was coming to a close.

As too the fallacy about his relationship to Teddy Roosevelt, the fact is that F.D.R. was a distant cousin. Most surprising to most people is that Franklin Roosevelt was by no means the first chief executive to seek a third term in the White House. Teddy Roosevelt and U.S. Grant were among our presidents who wanted three shots at the job, but F.D.R. was the only one who succeeded in getting them. In fact, he won four terms, dying just 96 days after being sworn in for the fourth time.

How about some other presidential facts versus fallacies?

Most of us would tag Richard Nixon as President No. 36. Not so, say some historians who claim he's actually No. 38.

For one thing, they point out that long before George

TEDDY ROOSEVELT

Washington was inaugurated, John Hanson of Maryland served as president of the United States "in Congress assembled" — before the first administration took office under a new-born Constitution.

For another thing, there was a Sen. David Rice Atchison who some claim served as president for one day in 1849 — the 4th of March. That turned out to be a Sunday and the newly-elected president, Zachary Taylor, declined to take office on the Sabbath. Since his predecessor, James Polk, finished his term at noon, technically the country was without a duly-elected chief executive and the president of the Senate — Atchison — filled in for 24 hours under the rules of accession.

If you think all our presidents have undoubtedly been loyal to the United States, consider John Tyler, who entered the White House in 1841. Twenty years later, he sided with the Confederacy against the Union and was branded a traitor when he served in the Confederate Congress. In retaliation for his disloyalty, the United States virtually ignored his death and let his final resting place go unhonored for a half century.

If you figure that George Washington was the first president to have been born in the United States, of course you'd be wrong. He was born in the British colony of Virginia. Technically, our first native-born American to enter the White House was Martin Van Buren, born in 1782 at Kinderhook, N. Y.

Another "fact" that isn't is that the candidate who wins the most votes is the one who gets to the White House. Not always. Several times, because of the way our electoral system works, the president was the candidate who got fewer votes. For example, in 1876 Samuel Tilden had a plurality of about 300,000 votes but his rival, Rutherford B. Hayes, became chief executive.

Following the program the band instructor Harold Aspenwall presented a number of awards to various band members. A plaque was presented by the band boosters to Mr. Aspenwall.

Low Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Record low temperatures were recorded this morning as readings tumbled into the 20s in the northeastern counties and into the low and mid 30s over most of the rest of the state.

Early morning readings ranged from 23 at Youngstown to 39 in the Cincinnati area but unofficial reports indicate temperatures near 20 in rural sections of northeast Ohio.

Skies were clear across the state during the night as a cold high pressure center settled over Ohio.

A warming trend beginning today will continue Friday with the mercury topping the 70 degree mark in most sections. Warm weather also is in prospect for the weekend.

Not much precipitation is expected until about Sunday.

Governors Doubt Court Bid Failures To Hurt Elections

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Republican governors, gathering here for their spring conference, generally discount the 1970 campaign impact of the Senate rejection of President Nixon's two Deep South nominees to the Supreme Court.

An obvious exception to that forecast is Florida, where G. Harold Carswell, one of the rejected Nixon choices, is running for the Senate with the active support of Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr.

Another of the party's southern governors, Linwood Holton of Virginia, said he did not expect the court dispute would be of particular significance in his state's campaign.

So did Ronald Reagan of California and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, seeking reelection in the nation's two biggest states.

That view reflected the consensus in an Associated Press survey of GOP governors. They were asked about the court controversy at their home capitals, in advance of the meeting of Republican state executives.

A dwindling band of governors, most of them from smaller states, was assembling here today. Only 16, half the roster of GOP governors were expected, and there could be more last minute cancellations.

Many governors apparently bypassed the conference because of trouble on college campuses at home.

Gov. David F. Cargo, the host, ordered the University of New Mexico closed Wednesday.

The campus disturbances and the U.S. move into Cambodia were certain to be prime political topics among the governors, particularly when national GOP leaders brief them Friday on the campaign outlook.

Cargo, who is running for the Senate, was one of the few governors who said the court controversy remains an issue. But he said that was the case in "relatively small and select areas."

OSU Athletics Are Postponed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The closing of Ohio State University because of campus disturbances has led to indefinite postponement of all athletic contests involving the Big Ten school.

Athletic Director Richard Larkins said "this includes games home and away and all practices because athletes are students and all students must be homeward-bound by noon today."

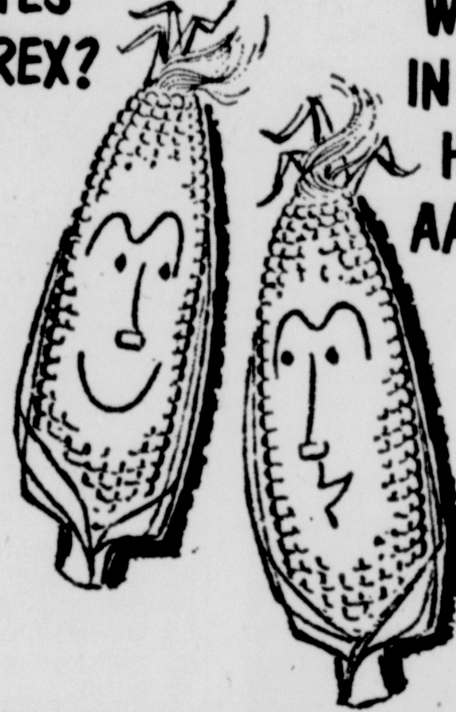

This is at least delays OSU's Big-Ten-leading baseball team's Friday and Saturday doubleheaders at Michigan State and Michigan, the track meet at Northwestern, golf match at Purdue and home tennis and lacrosse matches.

Firm To Construct Antipollution Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Development has announced plans by Rollins-Purle, Inc., to construct a $2 million regional pollution control plant to handle industrial waste in the Cleveland-Akron area.

The facility will contain biological filters, chemical mixing lagoons and thermal incineration and will be able to handle 250,000 gallons of hard core pollutants daily.

Union Strikes Goodrich's Akron Plant

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers went on strike late Wednesday night against B.F. Goodrich Co.'s Akron plant, idling 3,980 employees and expanding a strike begun 17 days ago against Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

The union had struck five other Goodrich plants in five states earlier Wednesday, affecting 4,504 production workers. Only three Goodrich plants with 1,600 union employees remained open.

A union spokesman said that the other three Goodrich plants would be closed by Monday if negotiations, which would continue today, were not fruitful. He said the union's plan was "not to take them down all at once."

The URW strike against Good-year Tire & Rubber Co. affects 22,600 rubber workers, including 7,600 in Akron.

Union contracts with the two firms and with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and Uniroyal, Inc., expired at midnight April 20 but Firestone and Uniroyal have not been struck as negotiations have continued for new contracts.

The Goodrich strike also affects 1,175 employees at Fort Wayne, Ind. 1,557 at Miami, Okla., 1,086 at Tuscaloosa Ala., 43 at Riverside, N.J., and 643 at Los Angeles.

The union's contract with General Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron expires on May 15.

Westfall School Hosts Annual Spring Festival

GRAND PRIZE — Steve Seaburn took top honors in the realistic design category in Westfall's Creative Arts Festival with his painting entitled "Resurrection." Steve also headed the Festival's program committee who organized the show with the help of Miss Ruth Montelius and Art Club members.

Seventy-one entries were judged in Westfall High Schools Creative Art Festival Wednesday held in cooperation with the Home Economic department's Style Show.

Judging the event this year was Mrs. Vernon Saunders, a member of the Circleville Art League.

Entries were classified into three categories: realistic, abstract and 3-dimensional art. In realistic productions, the grand prize award was presented to Steve Seaburn for his oil abstract painting, "Resurrection." Other prizes were given to Patty Schein, first; Sherry Covault, second and Linda Keller, third.

In abstract design, the first place award went to Linda Keller, second prize went to Claire Hansen and third to Joe Rhinesmith. An award of honorable mention was presented to Theresa Trent.

Grand prize in the 3-dimensional category was chairman of the Festival. Working with Steve on committee were Patty Schein, Linda Keller and other members of the Westfall Art Club.

BICYCLE SAFETY FOR THE MONTH OF MAY

Mr. Magill stated that "Bicycle Safety Inspections are very important. Tires can go soft, spokes and chains get loose, or brakes need adjustment. And kids grow over the winter; saddles and handlebars should be adjusted to keep up with them. A bicycle will give long years of service if it's given reasonable care and maintenance, and should be inspected by a competent mechanic twice a year."

Just as important as maintenance, Magill said, was the cyclist's attitude. "There's a significant difference between the words riding and driving, and the privilege of driving on the public streets carries a responsibility with it to drive competently and safely."

"We hope every cyclist appreciates this, and will operate his bicycle according to the rules for safe cycling which are promulgated by the Bicycle Institute of America."

Kent Students Tell Of Recent Campus Riot

Two Circleville girls were on the Kent State University scene when campus violence was terminated with the shooting deaths of four students.

Roommates in Terrace Dormitory on Kent campus

overlooking the Commons are Debbie Stonerock, daughter of Mrs. Jane Stonerock, 1205 S. Court St. and Nancy Batz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Batz, 127 Collins Court. Both are freshmen at the university.

Nancy summed up the recent violent events on campus by saying, "You read about these incidents in newspapers or see and hear reports on TV of campus disruptions, but it is always happening to someone else in some other place. It is unreal when it happens to you."

Nancy was at work in the Student Union Monday when the tragic violence erupted and was not a witness to the incident. She recalls an eerie tenseness developed when the Union was suddenly and quietly vacated by students prior to the shooting, of which she was yet unaware.

DEBBIE, in class, recalls hearing shots which were thought to be fire bombs exploding. Leaving class, she witnessed bodies being lifted into ambulances. People in the area of the clash were in a state of hysteria. It was a moment of panic for all the college students in what was repeatedly described as an "unreal" situation.

Debbie and Nancy, intently curious of the situation, admit to being fearful and willingly remained in the safety of their room to follow instructions as relayed through the news media.

The tragic riot remains a bizarre incident to Nancy and Debbie, safe at home. Both are doubtful that classes will be resumed to complete the school year at Kent.

McDowell Strikes Out 15, But Tribe Still Loses, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Sudden Sam McDowell was Sad Sam Wednesday night. "It's been some time since I've had such good stuff," said the strapping southpaw pitcher, ace of the Cleveland Indians. "I never had a better curve ball. But we lost."

Sudden Sam sat with bowed head in the locker room, his left shoulder and elbow encased in ice packs. He couldn't believe what happened. He shook his head and mumbled answers to questions.

Sudden Sam had struck out 15 batters, 14 of them swinging. But the Chicago White Sox and Joe Horlen won 2-1.

The end came suddenly. With one out in the ninth inning, Carlos May poled his third homer of the season. It barely cleared the 5-foot-high fence in left centerfield.

"I threw what I wanted to—a fast ball outside," said Sudden Sam. "I had struck him out with almost the same pitch twice before. He clobbered it. I thought maybe Ted—centerfielder Ted Uhlaender—might have got it. But, hell, he can't go through fences."

"Although it was 40 degrees, I really had it out there and I felt stronger as the game went on. When you have your stuff like I know I had you don't worry about the batters, you don't finesse them. You just throw."

Sudden Sam, who was 18-14 for the Tribe last year and is 3-3 this season, piled up 13 strikeouts in the first six innings.

The seventh was the only inning he missed getting one. That's when the Sox tied the score 1-1. May tripled to the left-field corner and scored on Bill Melton's infield hit.

Sudden Sam's most strikeouts previously this season was 11. He now has totaled 65 in 55 innings.

Uhlaender made a great try to haul in May's clout and bounced off the fence. It was several seconds before anyone, including the umpire, realized he hadn't come off the fence with the ball in his glove.

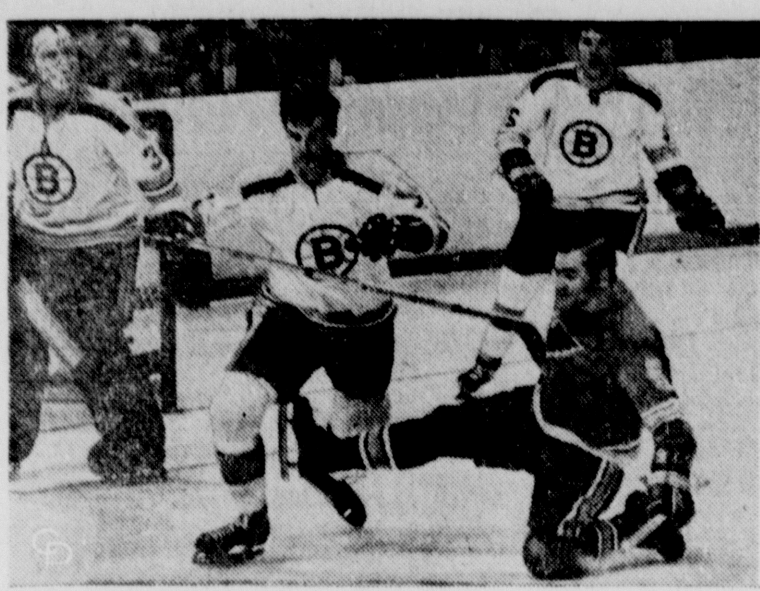

"I was expecting to catch it," he said. "I would have if I had time to go to the fence and jump the ball. It was only a matter of inches."

Indians Manager Al Dark sat alone in his dressing room.

"Strikeouts are absolute nothing unless you win the ball game," he said.

If it's any consolation, Sudden Sam was told, Cleveland's great Bob Feller set the American record of 18 strikeouts in 1938 but still lost to Detroit.

"It's no consolation," said Sudden Sam.

Lakers Beat Knicks 135-113; Final Playoff Set Friday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The New York Knicks and Los Angeles Lakers head back to Gotham for the seventh and deciding game for the National Basketball Association championship Friday night and the outcome may well depend on the Knicks' most valuable asset, Willis Reed.

The Lakers, with Reed on the sidelines, evened the title series at three games apiece before an appreciative crowd of 17,509 in the Forum Wednesday night running away to a 135-113 victory.

Reed, in civilian attire, watched from the sidelines. He fell and suffered a painful muscle injury to his right hip in the fifth game Monday night in New York.

"Reed is a 50-50 possibility to play Friday night," said Coach Red Holzman. The 6-foot-10 star from Grambling, the NBA's Most Valuable Player in the regular season, left immediately after the game for further treatment — and rest — in New York.

The Lakers agreed New York is something with Reed — and something else without him.

Jerry West of Los Angeles summed it up when he said, "New York is in a bad way if Reed can't play."

The sixth game bore out a trend. Neither team has been able to win two in a row.

West got the Lakers off to a 2-0 lead and the team was never behind. The Lakers led by 20 points after the first and second periods, 19 after the third and refused to bend in the final.

The outstanding performer was giant Wilt Chamberlain, who topped the scoring with 45 points. He was also a huge figure on defense, snaring 27 rebounds.

Chamberlain, who said he was "truly sorry when Reed was hurt," said he didn't particularly go for such high scoring, just "if the opportunity presented itself." It did.

"We'll be fighting for our life Friday night," said Dave DeBusschere, the Knicks' top scorer with 25.

Walt Frazier of the Knicks said, "home court has to be about a 10-point advantage for us . . . The Garden will be pandemonium and the crowd may dictate the pace of the game Friday night."

Brewers' K&K Whip Sox, 4-3

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

They don't exactly conjure up memories of Mantle and Maris, the one-time M&M boys, but the Boston Red Sox will be a long time forgetting what Kennedy and Kubiak, the Milwaukee Brewers' K&K kids, did to them Wednesday night.

Between them—and including Wednesday night's accomplishments—the K&K kids have 21 major league home runs, a good month's work for Mantle and Maris.

But K&K were the Kings of Klout as far as the long-suffering Brewer fans were concerned. Their homers snapped a nine-game losing streak and provided the team's first home victory in six starts, 4-3.

Kennedy's 18th career homer staked the Brewers to a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning and, after the Red Sox caught up on Billy Conigliaro's solo homer and a two-run shot by Carl Yastrzemski, Kubiak unloaded the winner off reliever Ed Phillips with two out in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 3-1, Detroit took Minnesota 5-2, California downed Washington 4-2, the New York Yankees held off Oakland 7-6 and the Chicago White Sox nipped Cleveland 2-1.

It was a long time between victories for the Brewers, but manager Dave Bristol wasn't at a loss to explain the winning formula.

"When you get a little pitching and a few runs things fall into place . . . with perseverance," he said. "When you work real hard you can overcome some things and I believe in working real hard."

It was only Milwaukee's third triumph in the last 20 games, all against the Red Sox.

Baltimore beat Kansas City for the 16th consecutive time over two seasons behind Dave McNally, with ninth-inning help from Pete Richert. The Orioles pecked away for single runs in the second on Brooks Robinson's single and a double by Dave Johnson, in the seventh on Don Buford's triple and a single by Mark Belanger and in the eighth on Robinson's double, an infield out and Andy Etchebarren's sacrifice fly.

Carlos May, who tripled and scored in the seventh, cracked a one-out homer in the ninth to lift the White Sox past the Indians, ruining a four-hit, 15-strikeout performance by Cleveland's Sam McDowell.

The Yankees shelled ex-teammate Al Downing and two relievers for six runs in the fifth inning, two on Roy White's double and two on a wild pitch, and nipped Oakland for Mel Sotolomey's 100th career win.

Behind 7-0, the A's fought back on two-run homers by Don Mincher and Rick Monday in

WHEN YOU CATCH ONE THERE WILL BE OTHERS READY TO TAKE YOUR BAIT. CRAPPIES WILL BITE VERY GENTLY. SO LET YOUR BOBBY GO UNDER AND LET IT STAY THERE BEFORE SETTING THE HOOK. BUT DO IT GENTLY AND PLAY THE CRAPPIE WITHOUT TOO MUCH PULL ON YOUR ROD, OR YOU'LL TEAR THE FISH'S SOFT MOUTH.

THE PROPER WAY TO HOOK THE MINNOW IS JUST UNDER SKIN BACK OF THE DORSAL FIN. USE THE SMALLEST MINNOWS YOU CAN FIND.

GOOD CRAPPIE RIG. USE A SMALL BOBBY, LIGHT MONOFILAMENT LINE, SOME SPLIT SHOT AND NO. 6 OR NO. 8 HOOK. ADD MINNOW.

Ben Hogan Okay From Tee To Green; Can't Sink Putts

HOUSTON (AP) — "I played with him once," said one of the younger players who asked that his name not be used, "and the way he plays golf is like cheating."

"Tee to green he's as good as ever," said Jimmy Demaret, "but he can't putt it in a bushel basket."

"I'm not in shape to win a tournament," said Ben Hogan.

Those three statements pretty well sum up the fabled Hogan who made his first competitive appearance in three years today in the first round of the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Golf Tournament.

Putting woes forced the 56-year-old master—still one of the world's great shotmakers into semi-retirement several years ago and health problems finally sent him back home to Fort Worth after the 1967 U.S. Open.

Since then he has had an operation on a balky shoulder and has acquired a brace for a troublesome left knee that "causes me a lot of pain on the last four or five holes."

But the indomitable little man with the steely gray eyes is no stranger to pain. He battled back from an automobile accident that shattered both his legs in the late 1940s and won the majority of his major championships after doctors had predicted he would never walk again.

"I wanted to play this one just to see if I could walk the tournament," Hogan said and added that he picked the relatively flat Champions Golf Club course "because it's a good walking course."

He denied, however, that he planned a major comeback.

"I'll play this week," he said, "and depending on how I do, how I feel, I may play next week. But I have no plans after that."

"I just wanted to see if I could play again," he said. "I've been cooped up in that factory for two years and wanted to get out a little."

He referred to the plant where he manufactures golf equipment.

He practiced in Houston for two weeks and, according to Jackie Burke, "wasn't over par once."

Petty Having His Problems, As Usual, At Rebel 400

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — Richard Petty is having his usual problems at Darlington — which means that if he gets them solved, he'll be the driver to beat in Saturday's $85,000 Rebel 400.

Petty qualified his Plymouth in seventh starting position in Wednesday's first day of time trials for the spring stock car racing classic, then went out an hour later and demolished the car in practice.

Although he escaped injury, the 32-year-old veteran was forced to return to his Randleman, N.C., home for another car and bring it to the night and three-eighths course at another qualifying effort today.

Petty, however, has managed to overcome bad luck several times this year.

Three weeks ago at North Wilkesboro, N. C., he broke the engine in his car and cracked the guard rail during practice. The incident kept him out of

Buckeye Tennis Tilt Slated Aug. 14-16

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first annual $12,500 Buckeye Championships here Aug. 14-16 will feature six of the top professional tennis players.

Promoters said Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner, Charles Pasarell, Bob Lutz and Cliff Richey have accepted invitations to compete.

There will be champions in both singles and doubles. The championship singles match will be worth $5,000 and the doubles title match worth $2,500.

Dust Commander Has Swollen Leg

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Dust Commander will remain in the state at least until Friday because of a slight swelling in his foreleg.

The colt was scheduled to leave Kentucky by van Wednesday for Baltimore and the Preakness on May 16.

Westfall Wins Shutout From Logan Elm

Westfall defeated Logan Elm, 3-0, Wednesday in a Central District baseball tournament game played on the Mustang Diamond.

Greg Bigam pitched the shutout. He had a no-hit game going into the seventh inning when Greg Fouch and Bob Triplehorn both singled.

Bigam fanned 11 and walked one. Gary Francis was the losing pitcher. He whiffed eight, walked two and allowed four hits.

Westfall scored two runs in the first inning when Randy Alkire walked and Larry Harris followed with a homerun.

IN the sixth they scored again when Bailey reached first on an error, advanced to second on a fielder's choice and scored on an error.

Harris was the leading hitter for the game. He was two for three and had two RBIs. Bigam singled and Doug McKay singled for the other hits in the game.

Westfall meets Dublin 4 p.m. Friday at Dublin. The Shamrocks downed Jonathan Alder in tournament action.

Reds, Cubs To Collide In 4 Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League Western Division leading Cincinnati Reds collide today with the Chicago Cubs, the tops in the east, in the first of an explosive four game series.

The Reds will send Jim McGlothlin, 2-2, against Joe Deckert, 1-1, in the opener.

The Reds and Cubs were expected to continue their hate affair which broke out last year when the Reds accused Cub first baseman Ernie Banks of making derogatory remarks about Reds pitching.

The teams traded insults last year and Banks complained Reds pitchers were throwing at him.

At the same time, the "bleacher bums" in Wrigley Field made Reds rightfielder Pete Rose a booing target. Rose expects to give them some ammunition in the series, overcoming his early season slump with seven hits in the last 17 tries for a .273 hitting average.

Tony Perez is expected to keep his hot bat moving against Chicago pitching.

President Slates News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will hold a televised news conference Friday, his first since Jan. 30, the White House announced Wednesday.
Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the exact time of the news conference would be announced later. He added that Nixon probably would not begin the conference by making a statement.
Instead, Ziegler said, the President probably would immediately begin answering questions.

After three games this fall all eight Atlantic Coast Conference football teams had been beaten. South Carolina won its first two circuit tests but bowed to Georgia 41-16.

Tom Seaver, Mets Down Los Angeles, 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT

And now the envelope please for this year's Cy Young Award winner . . .

Would you believe Tom Seaver again? He has the vote of Los Angeles' Manager Walt Alston and probably some of his players.

"Seaver is tops with no questions," Alston said after the New York Mets' Cy Young winner of 1969 beat his Dodgers 5-4 Wednesday night in cold, blustery Shea Stadium.

Although Seaver needed ninth-inning relief help, he picked up his sixth victory this season and 16th in succession over two years in regular season play.

"He's tough out there in any weather," said Alston. "But we battled him. Our kids sure as heck fought back."

Hank Aaron crashed his 11th homer and Phil Niekro pitched a five-hitter as Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 3-0 for its ninth straight and Philadelphia rallied to edge San Diego 4-3 in the night's only other games. Snow halted San Francisco at Montreal.

Reliever Ron Taylor said he felt he "was in for a night off" with Seaver going against the hitting-poor Dodgers. Seaver has lost only once to them in his career.

Leading 5-1, Seaver opened the ninth with his eighth strikeout. But then he came unglued with a walk to Wes Parker, a single by Bill Sudakis and a three-run homer by Willie Crawford.

An infield single by Billy Grabarkewitz and a bloop hit to right by Ted Sizemore followed and Seaver gave way to Taylor.

He got the last two outs.

The victory was Seaver's seventh straight over the Dodgers and his ninth in 10 lifetime decisions.

Aaron's two-run homer, 565th of his career, sent the Braves to a 2-0 lead in the opening inning and that was all Niekro needed to record his third victory in seven decisions.

Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 25 games with a sixth-inning double that drove in Aaron with the Braves' other run. Aaron was on base with a single, his 2,988th lifetime hit.

Niekro: "I threw only seven or eight fast balls, the rest were knucklers."

"I got ahead of most of the hitters and when I got behind, I could still get it over when I had to," said Niekro, who threw 126 pitches. "Yes, it's the best I've pitched this year."

It was Niekro's second shut-out over the Pirates this year. He held them hitless for 6 2-3 innings last April 18 at Pittsburgh.

and wound up with a two-bitter.

Deron Johnson tied the score with an eighth-inning homer and Philadelphia pushed across the winning run on Ron Herbel's bases-loaded wild pitch to beat San Diego.

After Johnson's seventh homer of the season tied the score against Padres' starter Clary Kirby, Don Money walked and Herbel came in to pitch.

Larry Hsie singled Money to third and Larry Bowa walked, filling the bases. Herbel then retired Del Bates for the second out, but uncorked a wild pitch with Jim Hutto at bat.

Ashville Wins County Jr. High Meet

Ashville took five firsts and garnered 56 points to win the Pickaway County Junior High track and field meet Wednesday at Teays Valley.

Walnut scored 37½ points to gain the second spot, Scioto was third with 27 points, Pickaway fourth 22, Monroe fifth 18, Saltcreek sixth 11½, Jackson seventh, 9½ and Washington was eighth with 7 points.

Frank Ludwig was the pace setter for Ashville winning firsts in the long jump, 80-yard dash and the 180-yard dash.

Ashville's Pettibone captured the shot and Ashville won the 440 relay.

Relays Are Canceled

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The West Coast Relays, prestigious track meet which regularly attracts world prominent athletes, has been canceled in connection with closure of colleges and universities throughout California.

The order canceling the big event came Wednesday from Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State College System in compliance with Gov. Ronald Reagan's request that all campuses be shut down in the wake of nationwide disorders.

ALTHAUS of Walnut set a new record in the 100-yard low hurdles covering the distance in 15.2 breaking the old mark of 15.6.

Walnut added four more firsts with Gray winning the discus, Moody the 880 and relay teams took the 240 shuttle and the 880 relay.

Hollingshead of Scioto won the high jump and Washington's Morris was the winner in the pole vault.

High Jump — Hollingshead (SCI), Lambert (A), Dowdy (J), Coleman (J), Clapper (M), 5' 11".
Long Jump — Ludwig (A), Walker (P), Hawks (SAL), Arnold (SCI), Coleman (J), 15' 8".

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to each and every one who has been so kind and helpful during the illness and death of our father, Reason A. Huffer. For the beautiful floral offerings, cards and prayers. We wish to thank Dr. Alvarez, Dr. McCoy, the staff at Berger Hospital, The Deffenbaugh Funeral Home, the pallbearers and a special thanks to the Rev. Foster Jenne. Everything has been very deeply appreciated. The family of Reason A. Huffer

Power Struggle In North Vietnam Won't Help U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A resolution adopted by the ruling Politburo in North Vietnam makes it probable that there will be a widespread purge of Communists, high and low, in that country.

The furor over Cambodia has diverted attention from Hanoi's internal problems, but it seems likely that the forthcoming purge is connected with a power struggle in progress ever since Ho Chi Minh died last September.

The prospects for this struggle are obscured by recent events which brought Red China back into the Indochina picture. It would seem that the outcome would affect Hanoi's prosecution of the wars in Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam, but the effect would be a matter of degree and of little comfort to Americans trying to extricate themselves.

In any case, a major North Vietnamese reshuffle seems to be in the works. An April 25 resolution of the Lao Dong-Workers-party politburo called bluntly for the expulsion of large number of members found wanting, and their replacement by a new "Ho Chi Minh class" of members. This is reminiscent of Communist reshuffles in other countries, following a Soviet pattern laid down by Joseph Stalin after Lenin died. The "Lenin enrollment" served to bolster Stalin's personal power as general secretary.

The party secretary in North Vietnam is Le Duan, and his name alone is affixed to the resolution in the name of the whole Politburo. This suggests that he is in a commanding position. He is regarded as pro-Moscow, and at the same time a proponent of bold military measures in the South as opposed to long, patient and protracted "people's war" in the Chinese style of Mao Tse-tung.

The resolution, a toughly worded document, suggests that Hanoi has been having continuing troubles because of the war's demands. Some U.S. specialists profess to see signs that the troubles are mounting because of new strains of supporting invasions in Laos and Cambodia.

The international aspect is indicated by a demand that party members follow a line of "contributing to the restoration and strengthening of the unity of the Socialist bloc and the international Communist movement." This suggests that the struggle is far from resolved at the top level. For years there have been signs of a Hanoi tug of war between elements embracing the Soviet line and those preferring Mao's more Asian "Marxism."

While the Moscow-leaning Le Duan, as sole signer of the document, would seem now to have the upper hand, recent events have complicated the situation. Only a few days after the resolution was published, events in Cambodia spurred leaders of North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, the Laos leftists and Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk to a summit meeting for which Red China provided the territory, facilities and cheering section.

Peking seemed to go one up on Moscow in the contest for Hanoi's allegiance. Then Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin let go with a strong denunciation of the Americans for the Cambodian drive and the new bombing of North Vietnam. He coupled this with a promise of new military hardware for North Vietnam.

All this could have an effect of restraining the developing power struggle in Hanoi, but the Politburo resolution indicates, the struggle must inevitably come to a head.

Police Guns For Use, Council Says

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The City Council issued a policy statement Wednesday pointing out that policemen are armed, carry live ammunition and that weapons "aren't furnished just for decoration."

The council said the statement was in no way linked to national events and was simply an effort to clarify the use of weapons by city law enforcement officers.

The statement read in part: "Anyone with common sense knows that the police have instructions as to the necessity and the use of weapons. In the final analysis, the weapon will be used in the judgement of the individual officer carrying it."

"Let no felon be under the misapprehension that weapons will not be used when necessary."

The statement also said rocks and bottles have been used in various sections of the nation to assault policemen, and added: "We do not intend to have our police stand submissively by under such attack."

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and netted hundreds of tons of war materials and foodstuffs used to support North Vietnamese attacks in South Vietnam.

Although the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were reported meeting little resistance, a Cambodian military spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had launched powerful new attacks Wednesday against Cambodian forces and after a day of fighting captured Semnongrom, the largest city in Mondulkiri Province, in northeast Cambodia, and Kratie, on the Mekong 75 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands issued their weekly casualty reports for last week, announcing that 123 Americans, 450 South Vietnamese troops and 3,415 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed, and 997 Americans and 1,228 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The totals were considerably higher than those for the previous week but the report covered only the first two days of the operations in Cambodia.

According to incomplete reports, 30 Americans and 176 South Vietnamese troops have been killed in the Cambodian operations, and 79 U.S. and 840

South Vietnamese troops have been wounded.

U.S. headquarters also announced that a total of 16 Americans were killed and five wounded in the crashes of six helicopters in the last three days, two of them downed inside Cambodia by enemy fire.

An Air Force F4 Phantom bomber also went down in the Plain of Jars, in north central Laos, today. The two crewmen were rescued, but the cause of the crash was not yet known in Saigon.

Williamsport Plans Operetta

The "Loco Burrito" under the direction of Mrs. Chestora Peters and each homeroom teacher will be presented 8 p.m. Friday in the Williamsport School Auditorium.

A spring operetta, performed by the fourth and fifth grades, promises to be very entertaining. The students and teachers have been working diligently preparing for the show, according to E. M. Hundley, Williamsport School principal.
